Govt prepares to review medical infra as expert projects another Covid-19 wave early next year

WHO flags Omicron's lightning spread

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

OMICRON cases are doubling in 1.5-3 days in areas with community transmission, the World Health Organization warned on Saturday, adding that hospitals could once again buckle under high case loads.

As of Saturday, India has recorded 143 confirmed cases of the new variant. The number is likely to go up as genomic sequencing results of many potential cases are yet to come.

Now reported in 89 countries, Omicron is spreading rapidly in regions with high immunity, forcing Europe to reimpose Covid-19 restrictions. But it is still unclear if the ultra-fast spread is because of the variant's immunity-evading ability or higher transmissibility or a combination of both, the WHO said.

Meanwhile, IIT Hyderabad professor M Vidyasagar told media that India will experience an Omicron-driven third wave early next year. Vidyasagar, who is also the head of National Covid-19 Supermodel Committee, said it's unlikely India will see more cases in the third wave than in the second one in summer. Even in the worst case scenario, India isn't projected to have more than two lakh cases per day in this potential third wave, he added, playing down fears of astronomical surges in Omicron cases.

Concerned over possible surges, the Centre is preparing to conduct a review of states' hospital infrastructure, and will be looking at the availability of resources such as oxygen devices, officials told this newspaper.

A member of the national Covid-19 task force said the evidence from South Africa and Europe of Omicron's capacity to spread fast and cause infections in Covid-19 survivors and fully vaccinated people suggests the variant will likely cause surges in India too.

"While there is no clear estimate on the extent of the possible surges, we do feel that we may be better prepared to deal with the cases this time," a senior official told this newspaper, hinting at experiences from the massive, deadly wave in summer when hospital systems in most parts nearly collapsed.

How severe is Omicron? Though initial reports from South Africa indicated that most cases are mild, a recent preliminary study by scientists at the Imperial College in London found no evidence that Omicron is less severe than Delta.

The WHO, for its part, said that data on clinical severity is still limited.

While real-world data had earlier suggested that Omicron is milder, conflicting reports are arriving and thus we have to be ready for the challenges ahead

Electoral reforms bill on agenda

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

WITH only four days left for the Winter session to end, the government has trimmed its legislative business. Just three fresh bills are set to be introduced in the remaining days of the current session, which ends on December 23.

These include changes in electoral roll to allow Aadhaar seeding and having multiple cut-off dates to enroll as voter, instead of just one at present. The poll reforms bill proposes to have qualifying dates on January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1 to allow more eligible people to register as voters. Currently, there is only one cut-off date, which is January 1.

Statue desecration sparks violence along Karnataka-M'rashtra border

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

THE defiling of a Chhatrapati Shivaji statue in Bengaluru on Friday midnight followed by the desecration of two statues of Sangolli Rayanna on Friday night and early hours of Saturday in Belagavi have sparked protests and violence along the Karnataka-Maharashtra border.

Soon after a video clip of the desecration of the Shivaji statue went viral on social networking sites, violent incidents broke out in Belagavi as an angry mob of pro-Hindu outfits vandalised public properties besides damaging a large number of vehicles, including those belonging to the police.

An unidentified group of miscreants damaged the Sangolli Rayanna statue at Angol in Belagavi and later another of his statue was desecrated at Sulaga, near Belagavi on Saturday. To contain violence and to prevent the situation from going out of hand, Belagavi Police Commissioner Tyagarajan imposed prohibitory orders under Section 144 of CrPC in Belagavi from Saturday morning till 6 am on Monday. The police registered three cases and arrested 27 activists. CONTINUED ON: P4

State logs 6 new Omicron cases; DK sees 5, all of them students

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

SIX new cases of the Omicron variant of Covid-19 were reported in Karnataka, five of them in Dakshina Kannada district, on Saturday taking the state's tally to 14. Also for the first time, Omicron cases were reported from Covid clusters in the state. Five of the new Omicron cases come from two Covid clusters in Dakshina Kannada, sparking fears of a community outbreak.

Four new Omicron cases (all girls – three aged 14 and one 13) came from a cluster at Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalaya (JNV) located at Mudipu, about 25 km from Mangaluru. As many as 14 had tested positive in the school on November 22. The girls had symptoms like fever, loss of smell and taste. On December 10, their samples were sent for genome testing and the results came on Saturday.

In another cluster at Srinivasa Nursing College in Mangaluru, a 19-year-old girl student tested positive for Omicron.

She along with 18 other students tested positive for Covid on December 9. The girl was fully vaccinated against Covid in July this year.

Health officials visited both the clusters on Saturday and found all five girls to be healthy without any symptoms. JNV's four girls have since tested negative for Covid in a repeat test.

The sixth case is of an 18-year-old girl who arrived from the United Kingdom. She arrived at the Kempegowda International Airport on December 10 with a negative RTPCR report. But at the airport, she tested positive and was shifted to a private hospital immediately. Her genome sequencing report came positive on Saturday.

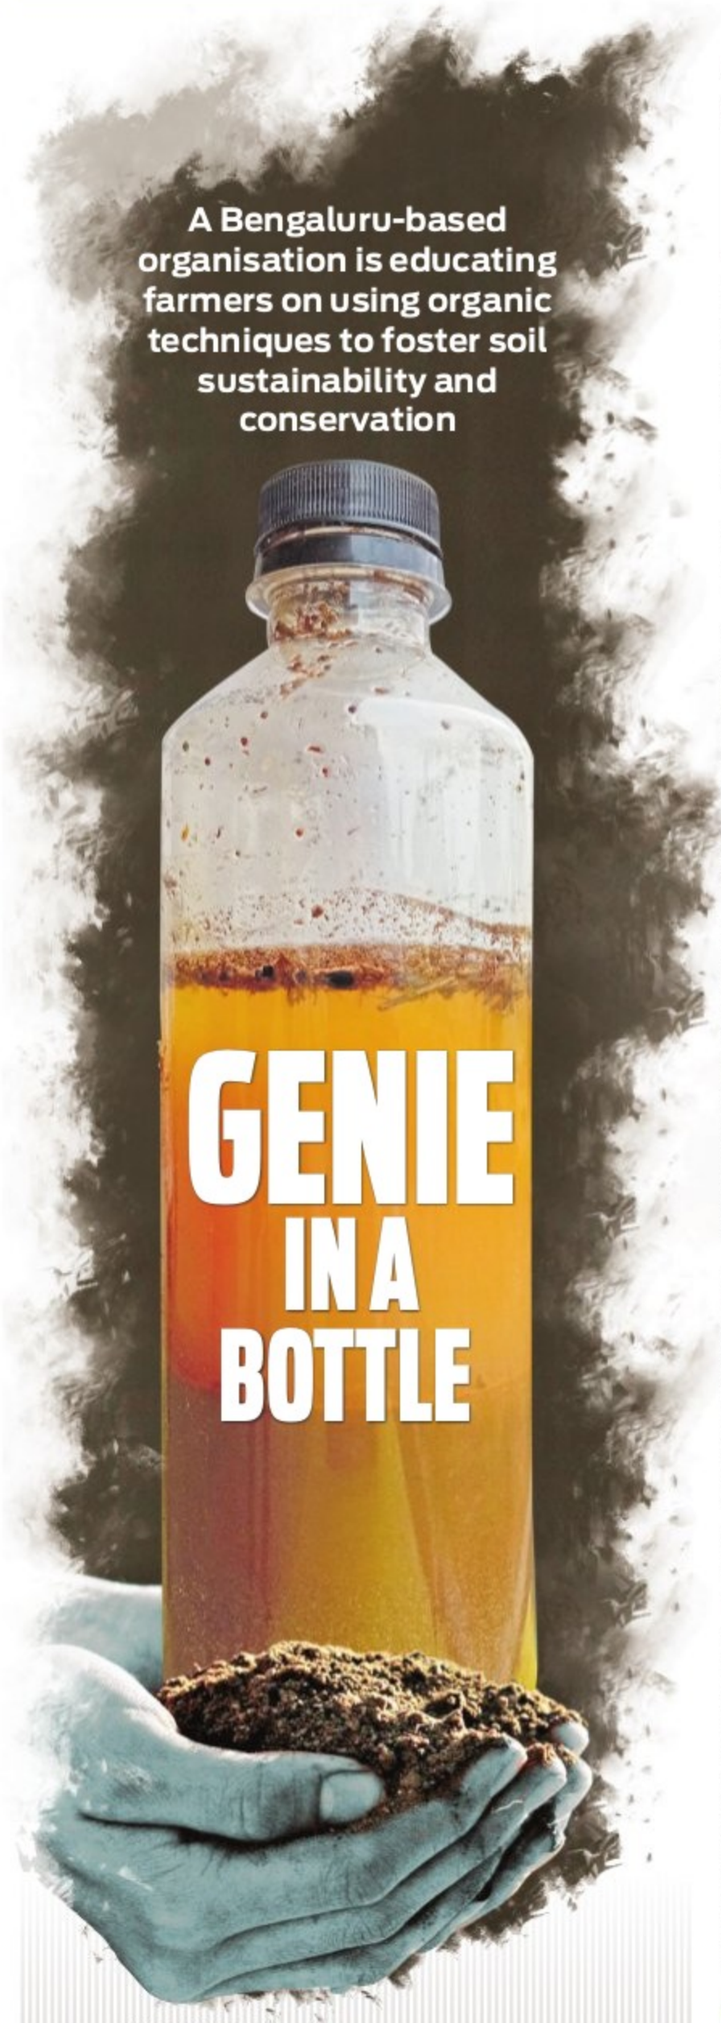
A Bengaluru-based organisation is educating farmers on using organic techniques to foster soil sustainability and conservation



GENIE IN A BOTTLE

RAMACHANDRA V GUNARI @ Shivamogga

THERE is a reason why Indian farmers occupy the sacred position of 'Sons of the Soil'. Cementing a symbiotic bond with the very soil they till, they have the gift of enriching the 'life-giving' property of that land, which over time feeds millions.

Soil is the embodiment of evolution, blessed with fertility to support massive ecosystems. For a predominantly agricultural country like India, it also becomes an economic asset, apart from being an emotional one. Soil conservation is imperative for the citizen, the farmer and the country as a whole. For several years now, the agriculture department has been emphasising the need to understand soil fertility and quality, prior to cultivation of crops.

Over the years, chemical fertilisers have been used to increase yields, but with growing awareness, there has been a considerable shift towards organic farming.

Aimed at this, Bengaluru-based Sustainable Organic Initiatives for Livelihood (SOIL) aims to conserve soil health and educate the farming community about understanding, conserving and protecting life of the soil.

SOIL founder secretary P Srinivas Vasu is engaged in protecting and rebuilding soil health across Karnataka, with a focus on promoting sustainable agriculture. He has developed a demonstration module through which he educates farmers about ascertaining the quality and fertility of the soil on their land in a simple way. Called the 'bottle method', Vasu explains its features: "Fill three-fourths of a bottle with water, with half of it already filled with soil. Shake it for about 5-10 minutes and leave it still for 4-5 hours. By this, one can have a clear picture of the soil's content like – sand, clay, and also the percentage of organic material."

After gathering basic knowledge about the soil's quality, the next step is to understand its physical and biological traits and composition. Physical features like colour, appearance, whether the soil is hot or cold in nature (by holding some of it in bare hands), and above all, when the soil is dropped on the ground, will it release any dust particles, are to be observed. Fertility of soil is termed as good when it is composed of certain physical characteristics – like its dark colour, aroma, porous quality, whether it contains organic matterl, and whether it is cool.

Speaking about soil's biological features, Vasu says, "Soil is a living world, supporting life within its many hues and depths. Several kinds of critters, such as millipedes, centipedes, ants, earthworms and other insects call soil home and live off its many nutrients. It's these organisms living in the soil which add more life to it." Further he adds, the quality of soil depends on three 'Ms' – Organic Matter, Moisture and Microbes. Organic matter creates pores in the soil to support air and water circulation, while soil moisture is formed or developed in those pores created between soil particles, and diversified soil microbes emerge and transform organic matter into nutrients.

He emphasises that with an increase in organic matter in the soil, further diversified soil life is invited, fed, nurtured and protected, thereby sustaining plant life above.

Improving soil fertility

Vasu says by adding organic matter, the resultant fertile soil produces diversified nutritious food, which feeds the hungry. There are several kinds of organic matter which can be added to the soil, i.e., greenleaf manure, farmyard manure, compost, vermicompost, organic liquid manures, weed tea, multiple cropping, tank silt application, cattle herd manure, oil cakes and mulching. Accordingly, Vasu, along with his team member B Prabhakara, is involved in educating farmers about conserving soil fertility and quality using simple means. So far, Vasu and Prabhakara have organised over 1,000 seminars and workshops for farmers in different parts of Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh and Odisha, where they teach ways to protect soil health and improve crop yield – triggering off a green revolution of their own.

SMASHING BARRIERS WITH MARTIAL ARTS

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

PROVING an adage that one should be breaking down barriers, not building walls, a 30-year-old Mysuru woman has stepped on the road less trodden to smash the barriers with her martial art skills to reach the top.

Meet Pooja Harsha, a Mysuru-based kickboxing national medalist and coach who with many firsts in her kitty is striving hard to bring more children and youngsters to the sport.

When she was eight years old, little did she know that watching films of Jackie Chan or other action films would inspire her to emerge as a kickboxer and a coach.

Today, she is the first woman to be serving as state head (Karnataka) of World Association of Kickboxing Organisations (WAKO) India and is also the chairman of WAKO India women's committee.

Born to Hari and Janaky Das, Pooja is their only daughter and they ensured that she did not face any bias in the family. "My father, an ardent fan of martial arts, was the one who sowed the seed in my mind. He woke me up at 5 am every day and took me for an 8 km walk and then for karate classes. He ensured that I never missed any class. I used to feel it was difficult, but gradually, it started to fascinate me and in the next two years, I was ready for a karate tournament," she says.

Though Pooja did not win her first karate match in Bengaluru, the loss made her strong. Over the next two decades, she represented the state over 60 times, winning 43 gold, 28 silver and 19 bronze medals. She is also a national champion 14 times.

When most of her batchmates refrained from kickboxing, Pooja was inspired by her husband Harsha, an Asian bronze medalist and head coach at the Academy of Self Defence (ASD) who introduced her to the sport and has been her coach.

Within years, she achieved a national level entry and became the first woman from Karnataka to be awarded a black belt second degree in K1 style under WAKO. Training a big bunch of talent in Mysuru, she went on to become an International referee in ring sports. She is the first to represent Asia in WAKO World women in sport committee and to get elected as a member. She currently serves as chairman of WAKO India women's committee.

Pooja says that though she did not face any discrimination as a player, she had to face roadblocks on her journey to head WAKO-Karnataka. "It was my dream job and I fought for eight years to achieve it. It's one of the biggest achievements in my two-and-a-half decades of martial arts journey. I owe it to my mentor and guru Santosh Agarwal," she says.

Though she became the head of Karnataka Wako just two weeks before the second Covid-induced lockdown, she built a team during the lockdown and made hundreds of phone calls and held virtual meetings to educate people about kickboxing. She managed to introduce kickboxing in 18 districts of Karnataka.

At the WAKO India Seniors National Kickboxing Championship in Goa recently, she led the biggest team from Karnataka of 103 kickboxers, who bagged 64 medals and created history by jumping from the eighteenth spot to third.

She has introduced kickboxing at elementary and secondary schools and has been teaching it at 16 schools in Mysuru and Bengaluru. "The gender issues have discouraged women from taking up martial arts. Women should train to retain proper balance and hold immense power," she says.

KASTURIRANGAN SAYS HIS NEW BOOK IS 'USEFUL', NOT A BIOGRAPHY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER chairman of the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) head of the committee which spearheaded the National Education Policy (NEP)-2020, Dr K Kasturirangan's book, 'Space And Beyond: Professional Voyage of K Kasturirangan', was launched in the city on Friday evening amidst a light-hearted debate on whether it is a biography or not. The debate was finally laid to rest by Dr Kasturirangan himself, who preferred to call the book "useful". He even compared the book to his report on Western Ghats, which has not been adopted by any government although it was submitted over a decade ago.

The book, published by Springer and released by T V Mohandas Pai, chairman, Manipal Global, in the presence of several eminent personalities from the scientific and education fields, is a 22-chapter work mainly written by Dr Kasturirangan. It covers areas such as space, science, education, policy-making and environmental issues.

Senior aerospace scientist Dr B N Suresh, who is presently chancellor of the Indian Institute of Space Science and Technology (IIST), Thiruvananthapuram, and editor of the book, said, "Many would think it is a biography. But the first thing he (Kasturirangan) told me when we were discussing plans for the book was that there's no question of writing a biography. It is a multifarious book which includes technology, management, administration, policy-making and caters to a variety of topics. Therefore, it is not a biography," he added.

However, Prof Anurag Behar, Vice-Chancellor, Azim Premji University and member of the NEP-2020 committee, disagreed with Dr Suresh. He insisted that it was indeed a biography, but not that of Dr Kasturirangan, but of 'the best of India'.

Metro services to start an hour earlier

Bengaluru: Namma Metro services have been advanced by one hour from present timings from Monday to Saturday. The train services will now commence at 5 am, instead of 6 am, from the terminal stations via Nagasandra, Silk Institute, Kengeri and Baiyappanahalli. However, there is no change in Metro timings on Sundays and trains will start at 7 am. There will be no changes in the availability of the last Metro train service. The last service will be at 11 pm from all terminal stations and 11.30 pm from Majestic throughout the week.

Lit fest kicks off with focus on languages in state

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE tenth edition of the Bengaluru Literature Festival (BLF) kicked off on Saturday. The special focus of the event was on the languages of Karnataka. It was also author Chetan Bhagat's first offline public appearance since the lockdown.

"This year, we thought it would be a good idea to showcase the diversity within Karnataka itself, since previously we've had many India- and region-specific sessions. What struck a chord with us was a recent report that said there are 107 languages spoken in Bengaluru alone," said BLF cofounder Srikrishna Ramamoorthy. "We thought that since there are so many people who speak so many languages, how do we bring attention to that?" he said.

The Karnataka language sessions, titled 'The Many Languages Worlds of Karnataka', were curated by Prateeti Ballal, a member involved with the festival. Apart from focusing on multi-lingualism in Karnataka as well as India, multiple sessions focused on several languages like Daccani Urdu, Konkani, Koraga and Halakki Kannada and their variations and diversions from more mainstream languages.

Book lovers throng the Bengaluru Lit Fest on the first day | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

Over 160 authors and personalities are expected to speak at the two-day festival, with day one featuring the likes of Chetan Bhagat, Sania Mirza and Aakar Patel among others, who attended the festival either in person or online. 'Ask Me Anything' (AMA) sessions were also held, with patrons having a chance to speak to authors like Preeti Shenoy, Samanth Subramanian and Pranay Lal, as well as virologist Dr Gagandeep Kang. A session on playwright Girish Karnad, with translator Arshia Sattar and journalist Anmol Tikoo, also featured voice recordings of the late playwright on many issues currently prevalent in India.

"As a literature festival, our objective is to be a platform to showcase a wide range of literature to a wide range of audiences who come here for specific reasons. Languages of Karnataka might not be very familiar, so we take it as an opportunity to bring in different authors and draw those audiences towards the diversity that exists in Karnataka," said Srikrishna.

People need to be willing guinea pigs for clinical trials: Dr Kang

With the announcement of clinical trials having started for Covaxin booster shots, renowned virologist and microbiologist Dr Gagandeep Kang spoke about the process of conducting clinical trials in India. "This is not the way things should be," she said, on the stigmatisation of healthcare. Speaking at Bengaluru Literature Festival, she stressed on the importance of clinical trials, saying, "People need to be willing to be guinea pigs and doctors need to make patients guinea pigs without therapeutic misconception." She went on to explain that proper training needs to be given on participating in clinical trials and doctors need to understand that they are not God. With very few people coming forward for clinical trials, she gave an open invitation to people to participate in the trials if they have gotten both their shots. She also expressed the need for India to move from aggregate data to case-based data when it comes to data reporting. "It's partially the fault of WHO, which first taught us to do data reporting, but now, as they move on to case-based data, we should realise that it's the only way to make sense of what we're seeing in a country as large as India," she said.

Karnataka on Saturday reported 335 new cases of COVID-19 and 5 deaths, taking the total number of infections to 30,02,127 and death toll to 38,287, the health department said. The day also saw 286 discharges, pushing the total number of recoveries to 29,56,691

HEALTH STAFF TO CHECK ON INT'L TRAVELLERS IN HOME QUARANTINE

Second RT-PCR test to be done on 8th day; Officials propose isolation for domestic flyers too

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THOUGH the government has stated that institutional quarantine is not mandatory for international travellers, even for those coming from the 12 high-risk countries, the health and civic authorities are asking travellers to self-quarantine themselves at home for seven days. On the eighth day, their samples will be taken for a second RT- PCR test.

To ensure that international travellers follow all home quarantine norms, the Health Department and BBMP have now decided to improve their assessment. They have decided to conduct random tests of those under home quarantine and take action against them if norms are being not followed. They have also proposed to the government to stamp the hands of all international travellers in home quarantine so that they can be traced and checked.

"Earlier, all those who were in home quarantine used to be stamped and it would help others know cases when they violated Covid norms and ventured out. We have asked the government to bring back the move so that tracing becomes easier. The government has to take a decision on this. We have also proposed to book cases under the Epidemic Act if those in home quarantine are not found at their said locations during random checks," said a BBMP official. The officials have put forth these proposals on the suggestion of medical experts and members of the Technical Advisory Committee, made during the review meetings based on past experience where tracing international travellers for a second round of RT- PCR test had become a challenge. They have proposed to make self home quarantine a must for domestic travellers too and a second round of tests on them also in the wake of rising cases in neighbouring states.

Munish Moudgil, nodal officer in charge of the state war room, said home quarantine visits will start soon and the logistics are being worked out. Existing apps will be used by those checking on people in home quarantine. For now, self-uploading of data has not been planned, he added.

SHE is asymptomatic and her vitals are stable. She had received two doses of the Pfizer vaccine. Though she travelled with her family, no one else has tested positive. She had 16 secondary contacts, which comprise airport staff and co-passengers.

A BBMP official said the area where her family stays has not been sealed, but a close watch is being kept and the second round of tests will be done on the eighth day. The official said they are yet to take details from her on the reason for travel and whether they had other contacts till the reports of Omicron came out.

Dakshina Kannada Deputy Commissioner KV Rajendra said all the five who tested positive for Omicron in the district have no history of travelling abroad.

Treat every pending case as Omicron to stop spread: Experts

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

THE next three months will be crucial and the state government has to prepare its hospitals and not dismiss the emergence of Omicron cases as 'mild' or 'few', said experts.

Earlier two waves too peaked during these months and the emergence of a high number of Omicron cases in other countries should be a warning and ensure we do not forget following Covid protocols, they said.

"Covid emerged first as a new virus around the same months in 2020 and then the cases of Delta, a variant of the virus began to be seen in the population around the same time. Now, we have Omicron. We have to be careful for the next three months. It is crucial to maintain and follow Covid protocols," said Dr Manjunath CN, Director, Jayadeva Hospital, and also a member of the Technical Advisory Committee (TAC).

A health worker collects swab samples of a passenger outside the city's KSR Railway Station on Saturday | KPN

Meanwhile, Dr Poonam Khetrapal Singh, Regional Director, South East Asia Region, World Health Organisation, warned that countries need to protect the least protected and those at high risk. She said that though the transmissibility or severity of the variant is still being studied, "Omicron should not be dismissed as mild, even if it does cause less-severe disease. The sheer number of cases could once again overwhelm health systems. Hence, health care capacity, including ICU beds, oxygen availability, adequate health care staff and surge capacity, needs to be reviewed and strengthened at all levels," a release from her office stated.

'Don't be anxious over delay in results'

Experts from TAC said there should be no anxiety over delays in getting genomic sequencing reports for Omicron. Dr Giridhara Babu, public health expert, explained that the delay is due to challenges faced in the collection to analysis. He tweeted, "First challenge is to ensure that the samples processed have CT values lower than 24. Second, as a technique, genomic sequencing takes only about 8-12 hours. The analysis of data by the bioinformatics pipeline takes another 48-72 hours."

He explained that the chip for performing genomic sequencing costs around Rs 2,50,000. It is cost-effective if at least 96 samples are assessed (and its multiples of 384). That is why one sees a same number of samples processed each time. Chip isn't affordable to run on 1 or 2 samples each time, he added.

According to him, instead of blaming the virologists for the delay, one should ensure there is revised operational guidelines to curb the spread. If the results are pending, then every sample collected should be treated as positive for Omicron and ensure the guidelines are followed to prevent spread.

"Few things to do now is get every eligible person vaccinated - Stop feeding into panic and anxiety - Wear masks - Avoid/prevent non-essential gatherings," he added.

Former CM BS Yediyurappa on Saturday lashed out at miscreants for damaging a statue of freedom fighter Sangolli Rayanna in Belagavi. Addressing the media in Mysuru on Saturday, Yediyurappa said there should be no compromise on respecting Kannada and Karnataka. "I have told the CM to take stern action against those involved in the vandalism," he said

THE mismatch between the growing population and the need for adequate infrastructure to keep pace with the growth-related requirements has led to a slew of projects remaining pending or moving at a snail's pace across Karnataka.

Increasing population implies a growing need for infrastructure for the masses to support food, water, transport, connectivity, law & order, and their equitable distribution. But that has not happened in Karnataka. There are several major projects that have been pending for years, and the almost two-year-long pandemic may have only further delayed their implementation.

Urban experts and government officials admit that though the pandemic is one of the reasons for the delay in completing projects, lack of coordination and will among officials are also prime reasons.

Bengaluru suburban rail

Mooted 37 years ago, the first tender for one corridor of the Rs 15,767-crore Bengaluru Suburban Rail Project (BSRP) was floated by its implementing agency only on November 24. Railway officials reiterate that a 2026 deadline has been set, but that seems unlikely.

The Rail Infrastructure Development Enterprises (Karnataka) Ltd (K-RIDE) was to float a tender for the 25.01 km Baiyappanahalli-Chikkabanavara Line (referred to as Second Corridor) in the first week of September, but it has been postponed.

Apart from this, the 148.17-km suburban rail project will cover three other corridors – KSR Bengaluru-Devanahalli, Kengeri-Cantonment-Whitefield, and Heelalige-Rajanakunte. The Heelalige Line (fourth corridor) will be the next line for which tenders are likely to be called for.

Peripheral Ring Road

Conceived 16 years ago to cater to the expanding state capital and growing vehicular traffic, the Bangalore Development Authority only recently submitted a proposal to the State Government to implement the Rs 21,091 crore project in Private-Public Partnership (PPP). Last year, the 65.5 km project was upgraded to 73 km with eight lanes and four service lanes. It is supposed to come up on 1,810 acres of land in three taluks of Bengaluru North, Bengaluru East and Anekal. It will start from Tumkur Road at NICE Road Junction and end at Hosur Road on NH-44. Land acquisition has been the biggest hurdle.

Red tape has also delayed formation of the Kempegowda, Arkavathy and Shivaram Karanth Layouts. Experts also list the completion of drinking water and sewage lines in 110 villages which were added to the city limits over a year back. "Loans were taken for the schemes, but the exercise has still not been completed. Another project which is a must for the city is the implementation of the parking policy and not just the completion of the multi- level car parking at Freedom Park," experts say.

Rail projects in Shivamogga

Two railway projects announced by the Centre are yet to take off. The Shivamogga-Harihar line was announced in the 2011-12 Budget. Then MP B Y Raghavendra raised the issue in Parliament on August 25, 2011. Survey work on Shivamogga-Honnali-Harihar route was conducted, but there has been no progress since.

The Shivamogga-Sringeri-Mangaluru line was announced by then Railway Minister D V Sadananda Gowda in his maiden Railway Budget in July 2014, and is pending for seven years.

Mahadayi Project

On August 22, 2000, the Karnataka government gave administrative approval for the Mahadayi Project, which involves building dams across Kalasa and Bhanduri, two tributaries of the Mahadayi river, to divert water to the Malaprabha river, which supplies drinking water to Dharwad, Belagavi and Gadag. However, this was opposed by Goa, which claims that it violates the National Water Policy and may create a shortage of drinking water needed in Goa in the future.

After the Mahadayi tribunal gave an interim order on August 14, 2018, allowing Karnataka to utilise its share of 13.4 tmcft of water from the Mahadayi river, the Karnataka government sanctioned Rs 1677 crore so far for its implementation. However, the Central government is yet to finalise the Detailed Project Report (DPR).

BIG PICTURE

Upper Krishna Project

The Upper Krishna Project (UKP) across Krishna river was envisaged to provide water for irrigation to drought-prone areas of Vijayapura, Bagalkot, Kalaburagi, Yadgir and Raichur districts and will irrigate 15,36,000 acres of land.

The foundation stone for the UKP stage-1 project was laid by then Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri in 1964. The UKP intends to use the bulk of 173 tmcft of water allocated to Karnataka by the Krishna Water Disputes Tribunal.

Now, the UKP stage-3 project, for the utilisation of 130 tmcft of Krishna river water is estimated to cost Rs 65,000 crore. The tribunal, headed by Justice Brijesh Kumar, allocated 173 tmcft of water to Karnataka seven years ago. But the previous coalition government had not released funds for this project.

The State Government has announced to provide Rs 2,500 crore this year to take up resettlement and rehabilitation of around 20 villages under UKP Stage III (Phase-I). The long-pending UKP stage-3 will increase the height of the Almatti dam from 519 metres to 524 metres. It involves acquisition of 1.3 lakh acres, including 75,000 acres that will be submerged. The UKP-I and UKP-II were aimed at irrigating 6.22 lakh hectares, and after completion of UKP-III, an additional 5.94 lakh hectares, covering seven districts, will be irrigated.

Varahi Drinking Water Project

The Rs 300 crore Varahi project is proposed to bring drinking water to Udupi district. The Karnataka Urban Infrastructure Development and Finance Corporation (KUIDFC) and the Udupi City Municipal Council have several times missed deadlines, with the latest fixed for March 2022.

The Varahi project aims at drawing water from the perennial Varahi river to be purified at Baje dam and then supplied to the 35 wards of Udupi city. The State's Legislative Council Petitions Committee, in 2020, had directed the officials concerned to construct a treatment plant at Halady village so that the 23 villages en route, coming under 13 gram panchayats, will also get drinking water.

According to sources, due to the pandemic, implementation of the project has been delayed though the tender was floated on March 27, 2018 with a September 2019 deadline. Udupi MLA K Raghupathi Bhat says the project has picked up pace after pandemic problems reduced. "I am hopeful that by March 2022, the project will be completed," he says.

Upper Bhadra Project, Chitradurga

This is a major project being developed to make the entire drought-affected Chitradurga green and make water available for farmers to improve agriculture. The State Government has recommended national project status for the Upper Bhadra Project. If approved, all the funds for the project will come from the Central government. Along with this, a direct railway line from Tumakuru to Davanagere could boost economic activities on the Chennai-Mumbai economic corridor project.

Film City, Mysuru

The file on the ambitious film city project on the outskirts of Mysuru has been gathering dust for the last several years. Although the project was announced during Ramakrishna Hegde's tenure as Chief Minister, Siddaramaiah, during his tenure, gave it a new lease of life by allotting land in Immavu village in Mysuru.

Even as the project was about to take off, the government changed. After H D Kumaraswamy assumed power, he shifted it to Ramanagara and within the next year, B S Yediyurappa announced shifting it to the outskirts of Bengaluru. However, in March this year, the government announced that the project will come up in Mysuru itself as per previous plan.

The state-of-art film city, when completed, is not only expected to generate employment, but will also give a boost to the tourism sector.

Airport runway expansion, Mysuru

Though road and air connectivity to Mysuru has improved over the years, runway expansion at Mysuru airport to allow bigger aircraft to operate from here and boost the tourism sector and bring more IT players, is still facing hurdles.

The proposal is to increase the runway length to 2,750 metres to help operate larger aircraft and increase the number of direct long-distance flights. Though land is available and farmers are willing to settle for the prevailing market rate, it has not progressed as the government failed to take it further despite huge pressure from the local MP Pratap Simha and stakeholders of the tourism and hospitality sectors.

According to officials from the Mysuru Airport, the delay in the expansion of runway is due to the tussle over compensation for the land. "If the government releases Rs 300 to 350 crore towards compensation, the next steps may be taken. But, over the last two years, this is still in the discussion stage," says an official.

"There is an urgent need for expanding the runway to meet the growing demands of air passengers, considering the industrial prosperity of Mysuru. Required land needs to be handed over to Mysuru Airport at the earliest," says Sudhakar Shetty, former chairman, Federation of Karnataka Chamber Of Commerce and Industries (FKCCI).

Bennetora, Amarja irrigation projects, Kalaburagi

Major irrigation projects of the district, like the Bennetora and Amarja projects, for which the foundations were laid three decades ago, have not been completed yet. Farmers, who were expected to benefit from these projects, are still not getting water for irrigation.

Plastic Park, Mangaluru

The plastic park, to be set up at Ganjimath in Mangaluru taluk by the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board, has only received in-principle approval from the Department of Chemicals and Petrochemicals, Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers, according to the district deputy commissioner. The KIADB has submitted the Detailed Project Report to the Central Government, which is yet to approve it.

SUNDAY INTERVIEW

'State govt making efforts to fight malnutrition in schoolkids'

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

TO prevent malnutrition among children through dietary changes and to ensure their healthy growth, the government is trying to provide foods high in energy and nutrients like eggs and bananas to schoolchildren in the Kalyana Karnataka region and Vijayapura district. However, the supply of eggs to children has snowballed into a controversy with some sections of society opposing it. Primary and Secondary Education Minister B C Nagesh defends the addition of eggs in the mid-day meals in schools stating that it will ensure a healthy growth for children. Excerpts from an interview:

Why is the government keen to have eggs included in children's mid-day meals?
As per the Union Government's assessment of children's health status in the seven districts of Kalyana Karnataka and Vijayapura, many children suffer from nutritional deficiency. They are malnourished due to various reasons and it is directly affecting their growth. In an attempt to fight malnutrition among children through dietary changes, we have added eggs and bananas to mid-day meals in schools.

Is the government open to exploring alternative foods in the light of demands for meals with no eggs for children?
The effort is to fight malnutrition among children and aid their healthy growth. If the government plans to extend the mid-day meal with eggs and bananas to other areas, we will certainly think of alternative nutritional vegetarian foods other than eggs which can be added to the mid-day meals.

How effective has the egg/banana mid-day scheme been in Kalyana Karnataka?
The scheme has been launched across Kalyana Karnataka and also Vijayapura as a pilot project. As an alternative to eggs, we have introduced bananas. However, we think that bananas are not enough to help improve nutritional levels, compared to eggs. We need to add something for more nutritional levels and we are still working on it. The scheme will be in force until March and the government may think of extending it to other areas only after studying the children's health after four months. It will be taken forward only if it makes a big change. About Rs 40 crore is being spent by the government to implement the scheme in Kalyana Karnataka for four months. We are yet to calculate how much it will cost if it is to be extended to the entire state.

Several schools in the state lack infrastructure, especially in rural pockets.
Efforts are on to meet all parameters in the schools which lacked infrastructure facilities. At least 28,000 schools in the state fulfil all parameters as they have most of the required infrastructure and teachers while 15,000 schools meet three or four parameters and about 7,000 to 8,000 schools have less than 50 per cent of facilities available. We are trying to address all the problems. Compared to the national average of the student-teacher ratio of 1:30, Karnataka's average is 1:23 which is better.

How challenging is it to normalise functioning of schools after the Covid crisis?
The first challenge we had was to start the schools and we did it successfully, though it was risky to some extent. The shortage of teachers was another challenge which we are trying to address. Completing the syllabus by making all possible adjustments is being worked out with the resumption of schools after a long shutdown. We are ready to face all challenges ahead of us.

How seriously is the government taking the spread of Omicron cases? Are you planning to change timings and schedule?
The Covid situation is not at all a threat to children in the state. The positivity rate is much lesser compared to the peak in the state. According to information I have, we have 1.20 crore children studying in schools and colleges in the state. Of course, we are careful of the Covid situation, but certainly not worried. According to doctors, children below 18 years of age are not at all vulnerable to Covid-19 or its Omicron variant.

Karnataka Rakshana Vedike members protest in front of the Sangolli Rayanna statue in Bengaluru on Saturday | SHRIRAM BN

Opposition, BJP trade barbs over vandalism

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Opposition Congress and JDS demanded stern action against those responsible for vandalising a statue of freedom fighter Sangolli Rayanna and damaging public property in Belagavi.

KPCC president DK Shivakumar said those responsible for vandalising statues of freedom fighters should never be forgiven and stern action must be taken. He took a dig at the State Government saying everyone is repenting now for not taking stern action against acts of moral policing. "CM should direct the police to arrest those responsible for vandalising Sangolli Rayanna's statue," said Leader of Opposition in Assembly Siddaramaiah.

Addressing the media in Delhi, JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy said vandalising the statue of Sangolli Rayanna is an anti-national act. He questioned the government how miscreants damaged vehicles and forcibly closed business establishments when around 3,000 to 4000 policemen were deployed in Belagavi for the winter session of the legislature. Meanwhile, members of pro-Kannada organisations staged protests across the state.

BJP hits back

The ruling BJP hit back at the Congress for taking potshots at the government over the incidents in Belagavi.

"Shiv Sena Goons have indulged in anti-Kannada acts in Belagavi. Our government will initiate action against these goons. Will Congress state president DK Shivakumar and Opposition leader Siddaramaiah condemn their partners in Maharashtra? Do they have the courage to stand up for Kannadigas?" the BJP state unit tweeted. "This man standing next to DK Shivakumar and MLA Zameer Ahmed Khan has insulted great Chhtrapati Shivaji Maharaj. It appears that Congress unleashed its workers to create communal tensions in the state. Kannadigas will teach them befitting lesson," the party tweeted with photographs of a youth with Congress leaders.

Bommai: Will talk to Uddhav if need arises

THE arrested activists include president of Sri Ram Sena Hindustan Ramakant Konduskar and Maharashtra Ekikaran Samiti leader Shubham Shelke. The arrested have been remanded to 14-day custody.

Meanwhile in Bengaluru, the SJ Park police took some Kannada activists into preventive custody after they tried to shout slogans to draw the attention of CM Bommai. More than 100 policemen had been deployed around Town Hall, where Bommai was to attend an event for the release of a book on Veer Savarkar.

Earlier, Karnataka Rakshana Vedike activists staged protest at Sangolli Rayanna statue near the City Railway Station and submitted a memorandum to DG&IGP Praveen Sood, seeking a ban on Maharashtra Ekikaran Samiti.

The Sadashivanagar police convinced members of the Maratha Welfare Association to call off their protest.

Bommai at the Belagavi airport said, "Our DGP will speak to his counterpart in Maharashtra about the security of Kannadigas there and the attack on buses and private vehicles from Karnataka. Our Home Minister will also take up the issue with his counterpart. I will speak to the Maharashtra CM if the situation demands."

On Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut asking Marathas to unite, Bommai said that responsible people should never incite anyone. "Shivaji, Sangolli Rayanna and Kittur Chennamma fought against the British. We will be doing a disservice to them if we fight to divide society," he added.

Maharashtra CM Uddhav Thackeray tweeted, "Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj is respected by people in the entire nation. His insult apart, the slightest disrespect to him by anybody will not be tolerated. The atrocities on Marathi people in Karnataka must stop."

Savarkar mightier than frontline freedom fighters: CM

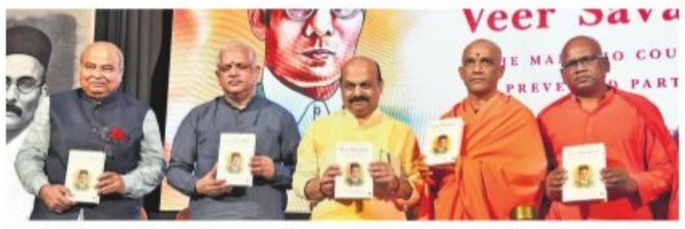
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Saturday said Veer Savarkar was one of the greatest patriots and the British were more wary of him than other "manageable" freedom fighters at the forefront. That was the reason Savarkar was sentenced to 'Kalapani' at the Cellular Jail in Andaman and Nicobar Islands, he said.

He was speaking after releasing the book, 'Savarkar — The Man Who Could Have Prevented Partition' written by Central Information Commissioner Uday Mahurkar, at Town Hall here.He said, "The British knew that those on the frontlines of freedom struggle were not as important as Savarkar, a nuclear bomb, and hence kept him in solitude."

He highlighted Savarkar's contribution in uniting the princely states against the British through Hindutva. Observing that both Savarkar and BR Ambedkar had similar ideologies, he said politics over untouchability should stop.

BJP National General Secretary (Organisation) BL Santhosh said that despite a conspiracy by his detractors to demean him, Savarkar's contribution to the country, especially national security, will shine on.



Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai releases the book 'Savarkar – The Man Who Could Have Prevented Partition' in Bengaluru on Saturday | EXPRESS

"Let them spew fire. But Savarkar had many accolades to his credit as he was the first freedom fighter to be tried by an international court," he added.

The author, Uday Mahurkar, said except late Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, none implemented Savarkar's ideas on national security as she had successfully fought a war to liberate Bangladesh. "But she too erred on Pakistan Occupied Kashmir issue. In the Narendra Modi-led regime new dawn of Savarkar has ushered in," he said.

Cops up vigil against drugs

ENS @Bengaluru

THE North Division police have stepped up vigil to monitor drug peddling cases which, according to them, increases ahead of New Year celebration. They are checking the supply of drugs to pubs in and around the city. Two days ago, South Division had arrested six people, including three foreigners for allegedly peddling drugs in separate cases. They had recovered 111.16 kg of cocaine.

A senior police officer said that a special drive was conducted in Hebbal, JC Nagar and Mahalakshmi Layout and six persons were arrested six persons and 10.2 kg of marijuana was seized.

The accused had sourced the drugs from their contacts in Andhra Pradesh and Odisha. They would get their consignment either in a goods vehicle or by train. Later they used to change the mode of transportation and use novel ways of smuggling to dodge the police. Many of the drug peddlers get active during New year celebrations in pubs and resorts. "We are also monitoring the movements of the agents who have close contacts with the peddlers and pubs and their customers. However this time, we have changed our strategy and are keeping a close watch on the habitual offenders and usual suspects," the officer added.

2-year-old falls from fifth floor, dies

A 2-year-old boy died after he accidentally fell from the fifth floor of a newly-constructed apartment complex in Anekal on Thursday. He was playing on the balcony, as his grandmother was seeing a flat, the police said. The deceased has been identified as Divyansh Reddy, son of Ravindra Reddy, a businessman. A senior police officer said the incident occurred in the afternoon. Shobha, along with her grandson Divyansh, had gone to see a flat of a newly-constructed building. She went inside the flat, while Divyansh rushed to the balcony. He was holding a sheet attached to the grill, lost balance and fell down. The security guards who heard a loud thud rushed to the spot and found the boy lying in a pool of blood. They alerted Electronics City police, who have filed a case of negligence against the builder and supervisor.

Garment factory staffer ends life

A 29-year-old employee of a garment factory committed suicide in Nelamangala on Saturday. The deceased has been identified as Mohan K, who hailed from Tumakuru, and was residing in Tippagondanahalli. Mohan's family was forcing him to marry a girl against his will. On Saturday, he slit his throat with a knife at home. Cops have found a suicide note which said no one is responsible for his death.

M'luru firm fined for suppressing facts

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court imposed an exemplary cost of Rs 1 lakh on Mangaluru-based SKF Boilers and Driers for approaching the court by suppressing facts.

SKF Boilers and Driers had moved the court against the Padumarnad Gram Panchayat in Moodbidri taluk for issuing a notice for manufacturing spray paint instead of running a paddy processing unit as per the licence obtained from the local body.

Dismissing the plea, Justice M Nagaprasanna directed the company to pay the cost to the Karnataka State Legal Services Authority.

"The licence the petitioner company obtained from the hands of the Panchayat, as averred in the petition, is for manufacturing of a Paddy Processing Unit, and what is undertaken in the Unit is manufacture of spray paint, as is alleged even by the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board in its inspection report/show-cause notice. Photographs are produced by the Board which demonstrates utter disregard, on the part of the petitioner, to the environment. Therefore, it is a case where the Board will have to take the notice issued to its logical conclusion, after following due process of law," the court said.

SKF moved the court questioning the notice of October 30, 2021 by the Padumarnad Gram Panchayat to close the unit within seven days.

For all the women and adolescent girls of Rajasthan
A Scheme of Free Distribution of Sanitary Napkins

IMPORTANCE OF SANITARY NAPKIN

In the country, more then 2 crore 30 lakh girls dropout from schools due to menstruation.

According to a survey, more then 62% females in the country using cloth strips instead of sanitary napkins during menstruation which can lead to diseases like cancer for being unhygienic in nature.

Lack of knowledge leads to lower self confidence, physical and mental health issues along with lack of concentration towards studies in young girls which makes them feel low on their self esteem.

Lack of awareness about menstruation unveils the backwardness and mental stereotypes of the society. Educating girls and women about menstrual hygiene and most importantly, universal availability of sanitary pads is a commendable initiative.

Dr. Sudhir Bhandari
Principal and Controller,
Sawai Mansingh Medical College, Jaipur

Menstruation isn't a taboo anymore; it is a gift of nature to bring a new life.
For a healthier life, it is necessary for all women to use pads during menstruation. It is a natural process and not a matter of shame.

Dr. M.L. Swarnkar
Chairperson Emeritus,
Mahatma Gandhi University of Medical, Sciences and Technology

The use of clothes or other things instead of sanitary napkins or pads leads to many serious diseases including infection. Educating young women about menstrual health should be a top focus.

Dr. Asha Verma
Medical Superintendent,
Women's Hospital, Jaipur

Not using sanitary napkins or pads during periods can lead to urine infection, cervix infection / cervicitis infection in the fallopian tubes and ovaries causing infertility and even cervical cancer.

Chopper crash being probed thoroughly, says IAF chief

Inquiry may take few more weeks, won't preempt findings, he adds

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AIR Chief Marshal Vivek Ram Chaudhari said on Saturday that the court of inquiry constituted comprising a tri-services inquiry team led by Air Marshal Manavendra Singh was doing a fair and thorough investigation to determine what had led to the helicopter crash which killed Chief of Defence Staff Bipin Rawat, his wife and 12 armed forces personnel on December 8.

Talking to mediapersons on the sidelines of the combined graduation parade at the Air Force Academy in Dundigal near Hyderabad on Saturday, Air Chief Marshal Chaudhari, while replying to questions raised by journalists on the status of the investigation, stated that the findings of the inquiry could take a few more weeks to come out and he would not preempt any of the findings by commenting on it.

He, however, assured that every piece of evidence including the flight data recorder, cockpit recorder and other material evidence were collected and the statements of all possible witnesses were being recorded.

> The mandate given to Air Marshal Manavendra Singh is to investigate every single angle and look into every single aspect of what could have gone wrong and come out with the suitable recommendations and findings
> Vivek Ram Chaudhari, Air Chief Marshal

"I would not like to preempt any of the findings of the court of inquiry, because it's a fair and thorough process. The mandate given to him (Air Marshal Manavendra Singh) is to investigate every single angle and look into every single aspect of what could have gone wrong and come out with the suitable recommendations and findings," he said.

He also said that there was a new threat to VVIPs from drones and it was a big challenge to guard against them. "However, we are procuring a large number of anti-drone systems from indigenous sources and giving a lot of encouragement to startup companies and small players to come up with anti-drone solutions," he stated.

Earlier, he conferred the 'President's Commission' on the graduating Flight Cadets who successfully completed their professional training. The graduating officers included 28 women, who joined the growing number of women officers in the IAF. Addressing the passing out cadets, the Chief of the Air Staff said, "The IAF is on the cusp of transformation into a highly potent Air Force with new inductions like Rafale, Apache, Chinook and a wide variety of SAGW systems. Today, as you graduate and move into an environment that is challenging and technology intensive, the IAF looks upon young and dynamic officers like you to carry forward the rich legacy of professional attitude, aptitude and temperament shown by your predecessors."

Lone bidder 'wins' car auction for ₹15L, temple board now has second thoughts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Thrissur

THE auction of Mahindra Thar, offered by the company's managing director Anand Mahindra to Guruvayur Sree Krishna temple, on Saturday courted controversy after only one person attended it and the Devaswom refused to hand over the vehicle saying its administration has to ratify the auction.

Kechery native Subhash Panicker represented Bahrain-based Keralite Amal Mohammed Ali in the auction and bid ₹15.10 lakh for the limited edition red colour SUV, the base price of which was set at ₹15 lakh. Soon after the auction process got over, certain sections of Guruvayur Devaswom protested and the managing committee decided to discuss the matter at its next meeting on Tuesday. Meanwhile, reports quoted Amal as saying that he would approach court if Guruvayur Devaswom refuses to hand over the SUV.

The Mahindra Thar SUV which was auctioned in Guruvayur | EXPRESS

Mahindra had offered the vehicle during his visit to the temple on December 4. Since the off-road vehicle cannot be used for devaswom's daily purposes, its managing committee decided to auction it.

"The managing committee will take a decision on finalising the auction process and handing over the vehicle at its next meeting," said Devaswom chairman K B Mohandas, who added the final decision on the auction was entrusted with the managing committee.

"A few people had contacted us expressing their interest in the auction, but all of them were either abroad or out of state. Though we had shared the account details of the devaswom to deposit a guarantee amount to take part in the auction, no one did it. On the day of the auction, a person representing Amal took part and won it," said Mohandas. As per the regulations, the financial transactions have to be ratified by the managing committee and devaswom commissioner. Some members in the managing committee felt the auction would invite criticism as only one person attended it.

Police officer files plaint against judge citing insult

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kozhikode

THE Kozhikode Town station house officer (SHO) has filed a complaint against the Kozhikode district judge alleging that the latter insulted her for registering a case against a lawyer of the district court. In the complaint lodged with City Police Commissioner A V George, SHO Anithakumari alleged that District Judge P Ragini also asked her to withdraw the case against the lawyer.

The commissioner has launched a preliminary inquiry into the complaint. The Kozhikode Town police had on Wednesday registered a case against P V Mohanlal, a lawyer at the Kozhikode district court and a leader of the Bar Association, for obstructing the police team while trying to arrest an accused in a theft case from the court premises.

The Bar Association later expressed its grievances to the district judge over the police action. Following this, the judge called Anithakumari for a meeting. In the complaint, Anithakumari alleged that the judge insulted her during the meeting and asked her to withdraw the case. She also alleged that the judge asked her to take action against the officer who had lodged the complaint against the lawyer. The commissioner said the complaint would be examined thoroughly, based on which further action would be taken

@ Doddaballapur

THE last rites of veteran Congress leader and former Union minister R L Jalappa was on Saturday performed with full state honours. Jalappa (97) passed away at RL Jalappa Hospital in Kolar on Friday evening due to age-related ailments.

The mortal remains were kept in Kolar for four hours on Friday during which Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and ministers Dr K Sudhakar and Munirathna and others paid their respects to the departed leader. The mortal remains were shifted to his native village Tubagere on Friday night.

At 11 am on Saturday, Jalappa's body was brought in a van from Tubagere to RL Jalappa Institute of Technology in Doddaballapur. Hundreds of people participated in the procession. The mortal remains were kept in the college for people to pay their tributes.

Around 5 pm, Jalappa was buried with full state honours. The final rites were performed by his son J Narasimha Swamy, a former MLA, in the presence of his family members. Jalappa is survived by three sons and four daughters. As per Jalappa's wish, his eyes were donated.

They do! Gay marriage in Hyderabad wins hearts

MANJU LATHA KALANIDHI

AAYE ho mere zindagi mein tum bahaar banke! Bridegroom Abhay Dange sang his wedding vows to Supriyo Chakraborty, the bridegroom — yes also the groom — at Telangana's first gay wedding on Saturday at Trance Greenfields Resort on the Vikarabad highway.

The duo announced their wedding in October and social media was abuzz with the news. Tollywood actor Samantha Ruth Prabhu retweeted the news congratulating the couple.

Although Indian laws do not recognise same sex marriages, the duo decided to officially solemnise their relationship as man and man with a 'promising ceremony' for acceptance, more than validation. The ceremony was officiated by Sophia David, a friend of theirs who is also from the LGBTQ community.

Supriyo, 31 and Abhay, 34, believe that their wedding may give hope to many closet couples and normalise LGBTQ relationships. "We hope to live in a world with no closets," they added.

"The core value of a relationship is acceptance. We should not try to change the other person. I think a relationship stands on the firm grounds of mutual respect and that is something we would never compromise on," says Supriyo who first officially announced his relationship in The New Indian Express in the Valentine's Day special edition of 2021. While Supriyo, a Bengali, is a hospitality professional in Hyderabad, Abhay, a Punjabi, is an IT professional who works for an e-commerce firm. They met via a dating app called Planet Romeo eight years ago.

"Our parents weren't initially the most supportive. However, they also didn't disapprove of it either. They decided to give us and themselves a good amount of time to introspect. Now, we have their acceptance," said Supriyo.

NGOs must train members in RTI: CIC

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE RTI Act is a great tool to bring transparency and accountability in the administration and the NGOs should train their members in RTI activism, said Uday Mahurkar, Central Information Commissioner, Central Information Commission, New Delhi.

"Well-meaning NGOs should spare some people and train them in RTI activism to improve implementation of government policies and schemes. That should be done with nation-first principle and without any ideological objectives," he added.

The CIC said the RTI empowers citizens, but there are some challenges too. "The challenge is that a lot of people use it for vendetta. It is also used for solving personal grievances, which is not bad, but the main objective of the Act is to ensure proper implementation of policies and benefits of the government programmes reach poor people," he said. Mahurkar was her for the release of his book on Veer Savarkar.

TTD condemns social media campaign

TIRUMALA: The TTD has condemned and took strong exceptions to a 'misleading' social media campaign by a YouTube channel which claimed that the devasthanam is offering Srivari Darshan to select communities. The channel, Bharat Marg, had also alleged that during lockdown Srivari Naivedyam was neglected for 21 days. In a media release on Saturday, the TTD said it collaborated with Samarasata Seva Foundation to provide Srivari Darshan to people from SC/ST/BC and fishermen communities during annual Brahmotsavam from October 7 to 14 this year. The TTD said it has no motive of dividing devotees on caste basis and such an allegation is seriously condemnable.

GLOBAL MARKETS: ALARM BELLS OR HANGOVER

FOR nearly two years, governments and central bankers in the developed world played Santa, dropping money down the chimneys of economies to prop incomes, defend demand and keep financial markets afloat. In an ironic turn of events, in the season of Christmas when carols call for decking 'the halls with boughs of holly', money managers of the world have chosen to wrench the punch bowl off the table.

The many theories of economics hang between assumptions and expectations. The question haunting folks whether the slide symbolises alarm bells about the future state of the global economy or is just a hangover of the intoxicating effect of easy money.

Effectively, the thesis of 'free market pricing' was in suspended animation as central banks bought trillions of dollars of private and public debt whether kosher or junk. Easy money fuelled a spiral in asset price valuations whether homes, crypto, stocks or commodities and triggered record high inflation across the world.

THE THIRD EYE

SHANKKAR AIYAR

Author of The Gated Republic, Aadhaar: A Biometric History of India's 12 Digit Revolution, and Accidental India

shankkar.aiyar@gmail.com

Inflation, particularly higher fuel and food prices, propelled public outrage ending the regime of ambivalence couched in definitions. This week, the US Federal Reserve effected the much-talked about pivot, doubling the pace of tapering bond purchases, the European Central Bank cut down pandemic emergency bond purchases and the Bank of England hiked interest rates signalling the end of what bankers call "accommodative stance".

The red in the festoons splattered on indices across stock markets — from Nikkei to Nifty to NASDAQ. Between Monday and Friday, the US benchmark indices DJIA and S&P 500 dropped over 1.5 per cent and NASDAQ slid nearly 3 per cent. In India, the BSE Sensex slid over 1770 points or 3.02 per cent and the Nifty over 500 points or 3 per cent.

Curiously in the immediate wake of the US Fed decision, markets rose in unison, almost as if in applause. Typically, the day after catalysed questions on the trajectory as savers and markets parsed the signal from the noise. Essentially, the dot map of US Fed (which is FOMC members indicating their views) signals three rate hikes in 2022 and four in 2023 taking US interest rates to 1.75 per cent — higher than before but still negative in real terms, that is lower than the rate of the level of inflation, and much lower than expected yields from stocks.

What is significant is on Friday, the 10 year US Treasury yield was quoting at 1.41 per cent – lower than where it was before the 'pivot' and much lower than the March 2021 peak of 1.73 per cent. Pundits reckon that the uptick will be limited to the short term. Effectively, the market isn't buying into the cohabitation of growth and inflation theory. The long and variable effect of monetary policy could well turn out to be the dreaded long rope!

Context is critical for policy design and determination of outcomes. The fundamental question is whether the promised/proposed increase in interest rate, rather negative real interest rate can tackle the phantom of inflation? Critically, one of the principal causes of inflation is the disruptions in supply chain and easing this depends less on interest rate and more on how the world engineers policy to enable economic engagement amidst the pandemic.

Arguably, the Omicron variant is less lethal even if more transmissible. The question though is not whether it is less lethal or more transmissible but whether it leads to shutdowns and disruption. The circumstance of the rising number of cases in France and the UK and fears expressed in Churchill's terms of 'tidal wave' raise the spectre of lockdowns. And, mind you, the Delta variant is still dominant in parts of the world. And globally pandemic management is governed by what is defined as 'recency effect'.

The fundamental question, therefore, is whether the forecasts of growth in 2022 will survive in an income and cost sensitive environment as interest rates rise. Will deferred consumer demand survive costs or die in detention? Small and medium have witnessed savage destruction of capital and capacity. Will they survive and sustain livelihoods under the new rate regime?

The angst and anxiety reflected in financial markets are rooted in questions about the real economy. Central bankers have to work with backward looking data to formulate forward looking policies while consumers collate emotion and logic to determine their outlook. To paraphrase a line from the song from Amar Akbar Anthony, you could say "the coefficient of the linear is just a position" between institutional inadequacies and what individuals experience.

The dilemmas erected by developed economies are already denting and detaining prospects of emerging economies. There is the issue of rising cost of servicing debt on national balance sheets and the impact of the erosion of currency. Already, the effect is visible in portfolio inflows and exchange rates.

The India Story is placed bang in the centre of the debate and, therefore, must propel reforms. It is imperative that Budget 2022 be leveraged to incentivise states to propel reforms and liberate the factors of productivity, particularly land and capital which are hostage to rent politics. Finally, India can scarcely afford to be distracted by politics and lose the economic momentum witnessed in recent months.

THE TRAGEDY THAT WAS AIR-INDIA

POINT OF VIEW

T J S GEORGE

I yield this week's space to a reader who travels often from her home in California to her husband's home in Kerala. She tells a tale that demands attention:

It's important that I share with the public what I experienced flying with Air India (AI) this time. For years, I have been patronising AI more out of patriotism than lower fare because I always end up spending as much as I would if I chose Emirates or Singapore.

Because AI suspended operations, we couldn't fly back on our original return flight schedule. We never heard from them for months after they resumed flights. And, when we called to book the return, they could not offer us the same 'class', but only the next upper class at about $500 extra! I haven't heard of two 'classes' within the Business Class, or about giving seats to a husband and wife in different rows: we had the same PNR number and the same last names!! The lady on the phone couldn't answer me what extra the $500 would provide. We didn't find anything special either.

In this latest (and, of course, our last) AI saga, we missed the connection in Delhi because, as usual we went straight to Trivandrum gate. It took well over 30 minutes because there was no wheel chair one of us wanted. And to our horror, they refused to board us because we didn't clear our checked-in baggage (four pieces). I showed them the luggage tags marked all the way to Trivandrum (TRV). They calmly said that the procedure has been changed. Only 17 hours earlier, San Francisco (SFO) AI personnel gave us the boarding cards: one from SFO to Delhi (DHI) and another DHI to TRV, four baggage claim tags attached to the latter! AI guys not only ignored this; they were very rude, loud and loathsome.

Said the husband: Of course, I didn't have any option but to leave my wife at the gate with the two carry-ons (with no seats anywhere around) and over 100 screaming men and women shouting at a handful of obnoxious AI guys. In time we galloped to the arrival baggage to find another thousand harassed passengers scrambling! And, no trolley or porter available. Finally, I managed to get one trolley from outside, loaded two of the suitcases, passed the Customs, ran to the gate, left those two there with my wife, dashed back with the trolley to fetch the other two. Again Customs. By the time I gathered all together, the flight had gone, leaving over 50 howling and shouting, babies wailing and baggage all strewn around along with ours.

> Many of you will live to enjoy AI flights, but I am too tired to dream of the return of the good old Maharaja, because Tata is only human and it will make years to get the etched-in rot out. A bit of cheering news: TRV airport management has been privatised a month ago. So you can expect better service when you visit next.

It took us another four hours of agony to get a reservation in the next flight (a day later), an hour's ride to the hotel carting all the bags and baggages. AI countered my plea to check in the bags saying that they are no more in transit, but against new boarding cards. I asked, how could I get a boarding card before checking in? Typical government 'servant' attitude.

Next day for the 5.15 pm flight, we left the hotel at 11 am to try my luck in retrieving the missing piece. It took me five-plus hours to re-check in, leave the wife at the lounge and commence a treasure hunt for the missing carry-on. Worth the hunt though, because it was retrieved from their lost and found! Wished I left all behind last night! Carting them around cost over ₹1,000 in tips and airport porter service (₹600 for four pieces)!

Finally a silver line: AI was only one hour late... About 1.30 am, I got a phone call. TRV airport AI asking me to please check the four bags to make sure that all are ours. I did. And one wasn't ours!!

Back to the airport for the exchange, AI said that I have to wait for the other party who's on his way. He asked me to take a seat and wait because the other guy has just started from Nagercoil, three hours away. They never said that when I asked what I should do on arriving at the airport. "Why can't you just take the one I brought and release mine?" His response was ridiculously funny: the other guy has to certify that his baggage wasn't pilfered!

Many of you will live to enjoy AI flights, but I am too tired to dream of the return of the good old Maharaja, because Tata is only human and it will make years to get the etched-in rot out. A bit of cheering news: TRV airport management has been privatised a month ago. So you can expect better service when you visit next.

PREVENTION is better than cure is an adage apt for the times since delaying vaccinations is procrastination without justification. With Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah busy with electioneering in poll-bound states, babus and technocrats are unwilling to take a stand on a unified jab policy. Nor, are they ready with research or studies to present credible solutions to the PM.

Worse, the multiplicity of authorities and the domination of a few individuals have polluted pandemic handling. Don't wait for tomorrow, what you can do today is a lesson our Corona Captains in babudom should pay heed to. Pandemic paranoia has struck the world, with Omicron nearly paralysing economies. Yet, global scientists, medical professionals and administrators seem lost in the wellness wilderness. None of them offer instant solutions or remedies, only sermons. Pharma cabals have unleashed their menial megaphones with the sole objective to push a variety of medical therapies and drugs for profit. Covid is the karma of Kaliyug since its cyclical nature ensures that even before the first mutation is contained, a new variety arrives.

Yet, administrators and their advisors show no unanimity on conquering the monster, which has claimed 5.5 million lives worldwide. Omicron has infected 80 nations and is spreading 70 times faster than its predecessors. In the absence of a consensus on corrective mechanisms to deal with this spread, each country is adopting its own strategy. Some are closing their borders. Others are making vaccination compulsory. Some others simply leave it to God. One of the medical experts warns the public about Omicron which is still not out after crossing a century in the country. Another believes India doesn't need an extra dose of vaccination. Rarely, the confusion and chaos has been so pronounced earlier. Many questions are being raised about our Covid strategy.

- Is there a cohesive vaccination policy or roadmap to deal with the pandemic in both the short and long run?
- Why has India delayed booster shots?
- Why is the government unclear about vaccination for 5-18 year olds?
- Why is the government not reducing the time gap between first and second shot despite surplus stocks?
- What is holding it back from importing vaccines for boosters while the surplus is being exported or expiring in private labs?
- Are we ready with robust healthcare infrastructure to deal with a massive third wave?

In the current top down architecture of governance, there is no clarity on these issues. India is, perhaps, the only country where too many cooks are experimenting with diverse recipes for prognosis and prescriptions. Besides the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), there is a Subject Expert Committee (SEC) under the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation (CDSCO) to review applications from vaccine manufacturers. Recently, SII was asked to submit additional clinical trial data after it claimed that Covidshield is suitable for booster shots. At the same time, the top genome sequencing institution, Indian SARS-CoV-2 Consortium on Genomics (INSACOG), took a U-turn within a week over boosters. After recommending additional jabs for people above 40, it claimed that its reference was merely a "discussion about the potential role of additional dose of Covid vaccines in high-risk populations" and wasn't meant to be a part of India's immunisation programme. Strangely, INSACOG passed the buck to other agencies. "Many more scientific experiments are needed to assess the impacts of booster dose, which are being guided and monitored by National Technical Advisory Group on Immunization (NTAGI) and National Expert Group on Vaccine Administration for COVID-19 (NEGVAC)," its press statement read.

Basically, it meant that only NTAGI and NEGVAC can advise the government on vaccination strategy. Various agencies made a hasty retreat when the Union Health Minister told Parliament that a decision on booster doses and vaccines for kids would be taken on the basis of scientific advice. He clarified that the government would focus on expanding the coverage of the second dose. His emphasis was clearly on the second dose and not booster shots. The government or its high-profile and telegenic spokespersons haven't commented on the time frame for reducing the gap between two doses or additional doses for the fully vaccinated people. They remain as vague as their political bosses.

Paediatrician and Niti Aayog member VK Paul, the most vocal sarkari voice on Covid, said a decision on the 'third dose' (booster shot), if necessary, will be taken only after scientific info and more studies on the subject are available. "We are going through the data and research work is in progress... One should understand, for many countries, booster doses are provided when the country vaccinates citizens with both doses to their fullest. First, let us focus on finishing the task of vaccinating people with both doses. I believe that booster doses should be administered when the studies based on science say so," he asserted.

Dr Samiran Panda, Head, Epidemiology and Communicable Diseases, ICMR feels that alarmist intervention doesn't help because "we still don't know how the virus is going to shape up. We don't know its effect on the elderly."

Even after two years of pandemic mayhem, the establishment is content with its success in jabbing the maximum number of Indians and achieving the lowest mortality and positivity rate. Over 50 per cent of the population has received double doses while about 75 per cent has got the single shot. India is, definitely, leading others when it comes to taming pandemic. But complacency and overconfidence causes agony as was evident after the first wave. India was the first country to contain it and celebrated this milestone with pomp and show. It pulled its guard down and was devastated by the most horrific viral tornado. Since then, the priority has been creating a strong healthcare system to deal with a third wave. Since India can't be insulated from the world, it must be fully armed to deal with new invasions. Global research studies have proved that an extra jab after a gap of six months raises immunity. Inoculating children prevents hospitalisation and death.

India is the global vaccine-manufacturing hub. Currently, over 20 crore vials are in stock. But inexplicably inoculation has slowed down. Unfortunately, the decreasing number of privately run vaccination centres stands at just 2,000 now. Vaccine manufacturers are unsure of future orders. On the other hand, many advanced countries are aggressively pushing for vaccination of kids and booster shots. US President Joe Biden and British Prime Minister Boris Johnson have gone on TV to encourage citizens to abandon vaccine hesitancy.

The Indian establishment is personality driven. It will let its leader down, if it refuses to act on time. Modi defines and decides the course of action and direction. He has to sacrifice some time allotted for seeking votes and set the tone. The time has come for him to speak now and not regret later. He has won many electoral battles and could win more in the future. But he can't afford to lose the war against Covid. It is his worst nemesis right now. Avoiding an appropriate action now to repent later isn't, surely, the government strategy.

It is not admissible that the refusal of a few million French people to be vaccinated endangers the life of an entire country and undermines the daily life of a vast majority of French people who have shown responsibility since the start of this crisis.

Follow SOPs to stop Omicron

Omicron is fast becoming the dominant Coronavirus variant, with a lot of cases now being detected in India. Whether one has been administered both the doses of the vaccine, it is necessary to follow the corona rules. Vaccination controls corona, but we need to follow SOPs to stop the virus from spreading further.

Bio-resources plundered

Apropos the report, 'TN's bio-resources plundered by corporates?' (December 17), there cannot be iota of doubt about this obvious fact as the corporates usurp any resources they can lay hands on unmindful of endangering the eco system. The Biological Diversity Act, 2002 (BD Act) has been issued with the main intention of conserving bio-resources. These resources are the public properties and the powers to administer them are given to the State Biodiversity Board (SBB) or the National Biodiversity Authority (NBA) as the case may be. This provision for commercialisation embodied in the BD Act must be scrapped forthwith before the bio-resources reach the zero level and the regulations for Access and Benefit Sharing (ABS) issued in 2014 shall have to be amended drastically sans giving room for revenue.

Fund woes over chip-making

The Centre's initiative for setting up semiconductor and display manufacturing facilities in the country in view of the emerging crisis in sourcing electronic products due to Covid, is commendable. But the allocation of ₹76,000 crore seems to be inadequate in view of the capital-intensive venture! The gestation period too is 3-4 years from the date of first brick laid on the ground! It may need five times over investment for a viable project which is rapid-technology development. India could even surpass the manufacturing giants if this is done right.

Is condemnation enough?

Former Speaker of the Karnataka assembly, Ramesh Kumar put both his feet firmly in his mouth by observing in the house that "if rape is inevitable, lie down and enjoy it" and his obnoxious remark has set off ripples across the country. (Priyanka: What the MLA said is indefensible, December 18). While parties across the political spectrum including the Congress to which Kumar belongs have condemned his outrageous statement, General Secretary, Priyanka Gandhi too has joined the chorus and has deemed that what has said is 'indefensible.' This begs the question: Is a mere condemnation enough for such a serious gaffe? Kumar is a repeat offender who when he was the assembly Speaker and was harried by the opposition parties quipped that he was feeling like a woman who had been raped.

Kohli should focus on batting

Kohli should not gripe about losing the white ball captaincy after he decided to relinquish his T20 captain's hat. He is not a child to have people come back to him and ask him to do a re-think on the issue. That he should have done before deciding to give up the mantle. It is like after the toss, whatever decision you take to bat or field, cannot be changed later. Kohli still has the Test captaincy, though given his muddled record there lately, he should consider giving up that too. So Kohli, concentrate now on your batting and bring laurels to yourself and to India.

Conserving environment

By introducing the Biological Diversity Act Amendment Bill, the government is campaigning for natural farming and protecting environment. On the other hand, we are seeing many natural disasters because of the encroachment of biological resources.If the Centre is serious about environment, it should take steps to support the green movement. If the companies are interested in biological resources, they should use their land for research.

'French help for India-made engine'

Rajnath says US, Russia have been told about need for indigenous defence production

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

FRANCE has agreed to manufacture defence-related engines in India as part of indigenisation of the military system and equipment. Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said on Saturday that France has agreed to make an 'engine' in India in collaboration with an Indian firm under strategic partnership.

Speaking at the FICCI Annual General Meeting, Rajnath Said, "Yesterday, the French defence minister agreed to the indigenous manufacturing of an engine, which is not being made in India, in collaboration with an Indian company under strategic partnership."

The strategic partnership involves co-production by the original equipment manufacturer and an Indian company approved by the Ministry of Defence. It is aimed at creating a defence industrial ecosystem.

Engine manufacturing involves complex metallurgy and is acknowledged as the weakest link in India's 'Make in India' drive. India's Kaveri engine programme has been hitting roadblocks.

Rajnath's remark comes a day after he held the third India-France annual defence dialogue with his French counterpart Florence Parly in the national capital. It was in 2019 that Rajnath had visited the France-based engine-maker Safran Aircraft Engines. The company designs and manufactures engines for commercial and military aircraft.

"India can't be dependent on foreign technologies especially after the kind of security challenges we have faced. I need not mention what kind of challenges India has faced," said Rajnath. Stressing self-reliance, he said, "We have conveyed to friendly countries that keeping India's national security challenges in mind, we want to manufacture defence products, weapons and ammunition in India." Rajnath said.

"We have conveyed it to the US and Russia as well. Yesterday, I informed the French defence ministers too," said Rajnath. These countries are the primary equipment supplies to the Indian armed forces.

"We have been urging all countries to come and make in India, come and make for the world. The world understands these things. I have received a positive response," said the defence minister.

'Agni P' being successfully tested off the coast of Odisha | PTI

Agni P tested successfully

New Delhi: The Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) on Saturday carried out a second test of the new generation nuclear-capable ballistic missile 'Agni P' from Dr APJ Abdul Kalam Island off Odisha coast. The Ministry of Defence (MoD) in a statement said the test was successful. "Various telemetry, radar and electro-optical stations and down-range ships positioned monitored the missile trajectory and parameters. The missile followed textbook trajectory," said the statement. The Agni P is a two-stage canisterised solid propellant ballistic missile with dual redundant navigation and guidance system. The first test was carried out in June this year. The missile is an advanced variant of the Agni class with range capability between 1,000 and 2,000 km. ENS

Will win in 2023 as well, says Gehlot as govt completes 3 yrs

Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot at an exhibition to mark three years of his government | EXPRESS

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

SURVIVING several storms, the Congress government in Rajasthan has completed three years in power. While Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot claimed that a lot of good work has been done and his government will "easily return to power" in the next election in 2023 as "there is no anti-incumbency", the opposition BJP charged it with "doing nothing on the ground except making false promises and wasting time and public funds".

Political observers said the government seemed far more stable than in the first two years. Last year, Gehlot was in trouble when PCC chief and deputy CM Sachin Pilot camped in Delhi along with 18 MLAs. But the CM saved his government by ensuring the support of over a 100 MLAs who even lived in hotels for over a month. Pilot lost the posts of state party president and deputy CM. In the recent cabinet expansion, only 5 of his supporters got a place, due to which Gehlot's hold on the government is now becoming stronger.

Marking third anniversary of his government, Gehlot on Saturday inaugurated a special exhibition 'Aapka Vishwas Hamara Prayas' at Jaipur's Jawahar Kala Kendra in which the achievements of his government were showcased.

Gehlot claimed his government did a "wonderful job in critical circumstances". "Due to Corona, the government's revenue has come down by 70 per cent. Despite this, I am happy that our government has also done a good job on the development front with excellent corona management," the CM asserted. Notably, as many as 8,959 people in the state lost their lives due to Covid-19.

Leader of Opposition in the Assembly, Gulabchand Kataria, said the Gehlot government has cheated people and not fulfilled any of its major promises.

There had been a trend of changing the government in Rajasthan every five years. But our government will retain power in 2023 elections as there is no anti-incumbency against us

Man beaten to death over 'sacrilege' bid at Golden Temple

Amritsar: A man hailing from Uttar Pradesh was beaten to death after he allegedly attempted to commit 'sacrilege' inside the sanctum sanctorum of the Golden Temple in Amritsar on Saturday evening. The incident took place when the man jumped golden grills inside the sanctum sanctorum, picked a sword and reached near the place where a Sikh priest was reciting the holy Guru Granth Sahib. The man was caught by the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee task force members. When he was being taken to the SGPC office, the angry crowd thrashed him badly that later led to his death. PTI

Will act on corruption in cooperative sector: Shah

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

ON a two-day tour of Maharashtra, Union minister Amit Shah on Saturday sent a strong message to both struggling and corruption-ridden cooperative banks and factories in the west Indian state, saying that he came to the state not to break the cooperatives but to help them. He further said he will go to the root cause of corruption in the cooperative sector.

Shah said after the creation of the cooperation ministry at the Centre, there is anxiety and speculations in Maharashtra about what will happen now. "However, I wish to tell that I have come here not to break the cooperative sector but to help it out. PM Modi has sent me this positive message. There are some shortcomings in cooperative sectors that will have to be addressed. The cooperative sector needs financial support but we also need to think why this sector is in financial trouble," Shah said.

Terming the state as "the Kashi for cooperative sector", Shah said the Maharashtra government should not do politics over cooperatives.

Shah also assured that there will be no privatisation of cooperative sugar factories. "Many cooperative sugar mills face financial trouble. Why? These same factories were sold to private people and most of them are political leaders. We will go to the root cause of the corruption in the sector, and try to rejuvenate it," Shah said.

Haryana farm union leader floats party, announces to fight Punjab election

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE confusion among Punjab farmer unions leaders whether to plunge into politics continues as a meeting of representatives of 32 farm unions in the state failed to produce any concrete decision. However, in neighbouring Haryana, president of the Haryana Bhartiya Kisan Union, Gurnam Singh Charuni, on Saturday floated a political outfit — Sanyukt Sangharsh Party — saying it will contest the next year's Punjab Assembly polls.

Charuni said: "We are launching the Sanyukt Sangharsh Party and will contest the Punjab polls. Our objective will be to purify politics and bring good people forward."

Slamming political leaders, he said they framed policies in favour of capitalists while ignoring the interests of the poor. He said that the Sanyukt Sangharsh Party will be a secular one and would work for the welfare of all sections of society. Charuni, however, said he would not fight the polls.

Sources said during the meeting here on Saturday, Punjab farmer unions leaders were divided over contesting the upcoming elections by forming their own party or joining some political party. Also, there was no unanimity whether they should support a particular political party in the elections.

"Different leaders had different views on the issue and heated discussions took as they could not reach a common platform. Hence, it was decided to hold another meeting on either December 21 or 22 to further the discussions," said a senior farmer leader on the condition of anonymity.

The sources said it was decided that the farm leaders will meet Punjab Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi on December 20 and they are still waiting for mal invitation letter from the Chief Minister's Office (CMO).

"In the meeting with Channi we will raise the issue of waiving debts to the tune of ₹1.25 lakh crore also 18 other demands," said Harinder Singh Lakhowal General Secretary of BKU (Lakhowal).

BSF shoots down China-made drone

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Border Security Force shot down a Chinese-made drone along the India-Pakistan border in Punjab. The drone was "detected and downed' on Friday around 11:10 pm near the Wan border post in Ferozepur sector, officials said on Saturday.

The black-colour flying object was shot at a distance of about 300 metres from the International Border and 150 metres from the border fence, the BSF said.

It said the drone, a hexacopter with four batteries, weighed around 23 kg and could carry a payload of around 10 kg. However, the drone was not carrying any payload like drugs, arms or ammunition.

The BSF said that a search operation is being carried out in the incident area. The border guarding force, in the past, had shot down two such drones that originated in Pakistan and were carrying arms and ammunition. Both the incidents took place in the Punjab frontier area.

Captain, Channi spar over security

Chandigarh: Former CM Amarinder Singh on Saturday said Punjab Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi was remaining in "denial" about security issues in the state. His charges came after the BSF shot down a Chinese-made drone along the India-Pakistan border in the state. However, Channi countered the charges, stating that Amarinder had "stabbed Punjab in the back" by having an alliance with the BJP. Amarinder tweeted: "Instead of doing Bhangra all day, the Punjab CM should advise his home minister to get active and come out of denial mode." Amarinder also took a dig at his arch political rival Navjot Singh Sidhu. ENS

DD YouTube channels get max views from Pak

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

PRASAR Bharati channels on YouTube, including Doordarshan, are popular and seen across the globe, but the maximum viewership comes from Pakistan. According to I&B ministry data, other countries topping the list of foreign viewership are the US, Saudi Arabia, Bangladesh and UAE.

The number of viewers has significantly risen between 2018 and 2020. During the Covid pandemic this year, viewership from Nepal has also increased.

The YouTube channels of the broadcaster received more than 64 lakh views from Pakistan in 2018, which increased to about 1.33 crore in 2020. Till November 30 this year, the viewership was already 1.24 crore.

In 2018, 52.26 lakh people in the US watched All India Radio (AIR) and Doordarshan channels. As per data provided by the ministry in the Rajya Sabha earlier this week, the viewership was around 1.28 crore in 2020. The viewership of the digital channels in UAE increased from 37 lakh in 2018 to 82.72 lakh in 2020.

Replying to questions in the Rajya Sabha, I&B minister Anurag Thakur said Prasar Bharati is constantly taking steps to popularise its audio and video digital channels. "NewsOnAir app publishes periodic rankings of popular livestreams city-wise and country-wise. Several rare archival recordings are made public through digital channels such as radio autobiographies, Constituent Assembly speeches, among others," he said.

LS could give nod to 6 Bills

WHILE the government had set out with 29 legislative bills for the Winter session, the Lok Sabha could give its nod only to six. The past week was washed out with the Opposition stepping up heat on the BJP-led dispensation over the findings of the special investigation team on the Lakhimpur Kheri incident in Uttar Pradesh.

The Election Laws (Amendment) Bill, 2021, proposes to amend the Representation of the People Act 1950 and 1951. It seeks to achieve four objectives – synchronise the electoral roll with Aadhaar to avoid duplication; bring in cut-off dates in the first month of every quarter; replace the term 'wife' in the existing law to 'spouse' to achieve gender neutrality; and, enable requisition of premises for holding elections.

Bengal schools with zero enrolment to go 'extinct'

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE West Bengal government has decided to shut down 64 state-aided junior high schools (classes V-VIII) across the state, where student enrolment is down to zero. The schools were declared 'extinct' following a survey by the school education department.

Sources in the department said there are more schools where less than 20 per cent students attend classes. "Such schools will continue to operate until the students are accommodated in other institutions and then these schools too will be shut down," said an official.

West Bengal has 980 junior high schools and nearly 6.5 per cent of them have been declared extinct. A total of 145 teachers have already been served transfer letters asking them to join other schools where more teachers are required. The sudden transfer orders have triggered discontent among the teachers. "There was zero enrolment in my school before the pandemic. I had no information about my transfer even a few weeks ago," said a teacher in Howrah

After classes IX to XII were reopened on November 16, the state government had started a survey on resuming physical classes in the junior high schools and came to know about the schools with zero enrolment. "The survey showed the trend of not attending schools had begun much earlier," said another official of the department. "Many of these schools recorded zero enrolment even before the pandemic. Students of other schools did not attend online classes or appear in exams during the pandemic. Teachers of the concerned schools contacted the students' families and informed us about the zero attendance situation."

Most of the shut down schools are located in urban or semi-urban pockets of the southern districts.

Naqvi defends raising of marriage age

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

UNION Minority Affairs Minister Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi on Saturday denounced those who are opposing the Centre's decision to increase the minimum age of marriage for women from 18 to 21, and said that constitutional rights of women in India should not get influenced by "Talibani mindset".

Addressing 'Minorities Day' function here, Naqvi lashed out at critics saying the same set of people were also against making instant triple talaq a crime. The Union minister said those who raised questions on removal of restrictions on Muslim women travelling alone for Haj are "professional protesters" of the essence of the Indian Constitution.

It is the "Talibani mentality" that creates hurdles in women's liberty, dignity and empowerment, the minister said.

"I am shocked and surprised to know that some people are slamming this decision as they feel that a girl would become rogue if the age of marriage is raised to 21 years. This kind of thought process can only be termed as 'Talibani mindset' rather than 'Hindustani' thinking," Naqvi said at the event organised by the National Commission for Minorities.

The Cabinet on Wednesday had approved a proposal to raise the legal marriage age of women to 21 from 18 years.

BJP'S LOSS INTO GAIN PUSH

Mission 2022 focuses on seats where BJP narrowly lost or finished second in 2017 to cash in on mood against opposition MLAs

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

PULLING out all stops to beat anti-incumbency and secure a second consecutive term in Uttar Pradesh, the BJP is focusing on the 70-odd seats the party and its allies could not win in the 2017 Assembly elections, especially the 56 seats where it finished second.

The party leadership, sources said, hopes anti-incumbency against the opposition MLAs representing these constituencies would work in its favour and help compensate for any seats it loses in other parts of the state, particularly western UP, a region that has seen political churn in the wake of the farmers' agitation, besides other seats where its MLAs are facing anti-incumbency.

As part of the strategy, CM Yogi Adityanath and his deputies — Keshav Maurya and Dinesh Sharma — are launching new developmental projects and addressing public meetings.

Explaining the strategy, a senior BJP leader said, "The idea behind the focus on those constituencies which we lost in previous election is to snatch at least 50-60 per cent of those seats from the opposition to cover the losses, if at all, incurred due to the anti-incumbency of our sitting MLAs in some constituencies."

The BJP had lost two seats — Behat and Saharanpur Urban — in Saharanpur parliamentary segment in western UP to Congress and Samajwadi Party (SP), respectively, in 2017. To woo the electorate this time, Union Home Minister Amit Shah laid the foundation stone of Maa Shakumbhari University and challenged the Opposition, especially the SP, by comparing the law and order situation under the present dispensation with that under Akhilesh Yadav's rule.

As achievements of the Yogi government, Shah cited the end of the sale of sugar mills and closing down of illegal slaughterhouses. "When I came to Saharanpur in 2017, many people told me they will vote for change, but also asked me whether migration would decrease. I requested them to vote for BJP to ensure that those who forced them to flee would have to migrate from UP," he said. Four of the seven Assembly constituencies in Saharanpur have more than 40 per cent Muslim population, but elected BJP candidates.

Political PULSE

At Jalalabad assembly segment in Shahjahanpur, which the BJP lost to SP, Yogi launched projects worth ₹269 crore.

At Kairana in Shamli district — which BJP stalwart Hukum Singh's daughter lost to SP's Nahid Hassan by 21,162 votes — the CM launched infrastructure projects worth ₹425 crore and laid the foundation of a PAC battalion. He said migration of Hindu families in 2015-16, allegedly due to fear of the dominant minority, would never happen under a BJP government.

Yogi also inaugurated projects in Rampur district, the stronghold of jailed SP leader Azam Khan. In 2017, the BJP lost three of the five Assembly seats in Rampur parliamentary constituency, including Suar and Rampur Khas. At Thakurdwara, one of the four Assembly seats the party lost in Moradabad parliamentary constituency, and where it finished second, the CM laid the foundation of development projects. He has visited Moradabad, which has over 42 per cent Muslim population, around 10 times in the past five years.

Yogi visited Jaswantnagar in Etawah, the native district of SP chief Akhilesh Yadav, where Shivpal Yadav, then the SP candidate, had trounced the BJP by over 50,000 votes in 2017.

Yogi had visited Tamkuhi Raj seat in Kushinagar, which the BJP lost to the Congress last time, on September 12 and inaugurated and laid foundation of developmental projects worth ₹421 crore.

Terming the BJP's decision to concentrate on seats where it was runner-up last time a "deft political strategy", political scientist Prof AK Mishra said, "The party had been facing challenge in western UP owing to farmers' protest. It sensed the problem and started working to neutralise it. It would be interesting to see how far this move pays off to the BJP."

U'KHAND: CONGRESS FIRST LIST OF CANDIDATES BY YEAR END

Dehradun: The Uttarakhand unit of Congress will issue its first list of candidates for the upcoming state assembly elections by the end of this month. According to state Congress leaders, the screening committee president of the party has already started meeting contending leaders who are claiming that they can win the seat for the party if handed ticket. Mathura Dutt Joshi, Congress state general secretary (organisation) said, "The meeting of the chairman of the screening committee has started with the contending candidates." The meetings have commenced in few divisions, while more are being scheduled for the coming days.

GOA FORWARD PARTY SEALS ALLIANCE WITH CONGRESS

Mumbai: The Goa Forward Party (GFP) has announced its pre-poll alliance with Congress in a joint press conference held in Goa on Saturday. Goa Forward Party president Vijay Sardesai said, "We had said in the past that on the eve of Goa's 60th Liberation Day, we will give you an alliance that will re-liberate Goa from these elected autocracies." Last week, Sardesai was invited by Goa Congress in-charge Dinesh Gundu Rao for a meeting with the grand old party's state unit chief Girish Chodankar, which kickstarted the talks of a pre-poll alliance between the two parties. On November 30, Sardesai had met Congress leader Rahul Gandhi.

Judge who cleared Modi in Godhra case no more

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Ahmedabad

RETIRED Supreme Court Judge Girish Thakorlal Nanavati, who headed two inquiry commissions — 2002 Godhra riots and anti-Sikh riots — breathed his last at his residence in Ahmedabad on Saturday.

His family said he suffered a massive heart attack at around 1:30 pm.

Born on February 17, 1935, Nanavati was enrolled as an advocate in the Bombay High Court on February 11, 1958. He was appointed as the judge of Gujarat High Court in 1979 and was transferred to the Orissa High Court in 1993. He was the Chief Justice of Orissa High Court in January 1994 and was transferred as Chief Justice of Karnataka High Court in September 1994. He was elevated to the Supreme Court in 1995.

He retired from the apex court in 2000. After retirement, he headed a commission to probe the 1984 anti-Sikh riots in Delhi. Later, he became part of a commission appointed by the then Gujarat chief minister, Narendra Modi, to probe the 2002 post-Godhra riots.

Nanavati submitted his final report on the 2002 riots to the state government in 2014, which was tabled in the Gujarat state assembly in December 2019. The report gave a "clean chit" to Modi.

Justices Nanavati and Akshay Mehta had in 2014 submitted their final report on the 2002 riots to the then Gujarat chief minister Anandiben Patel.

The commission was appointed in 2002 by Narendra Modi to probe the riots. Nanavati was appointed by the NDA government to probe the 1984 anti-Sikh riots. He was the sole member of the Nanavati commission.

DRONES TO TACKLE HOOCH SMUGGLING IN BIHAR

Patna: Liquor mafias in 'dry state' Bihar have tough times ahead with the state government set to ramp up surveillance against illegal brewing and smuggling. The government has decided to purchase 18 small-size drones while the state home department approved the police headquarters' proposal earlier this week to purchase high quality drones. The drones will be used to keep tabs on mafias for liquor smuggling activities originating outside the state. Additional Director General of Police (headquarters) Jitendra Singh Gangwar said the drones would be pressed into service in the areas that were being used as a conduit for liquor smuggling and manufacturing. "In addition, it will help the state police keep surveillance on Maoists movements," the ADGP said. Manufacture, sale, storage and consumption of liquor is completely banned in the state under Bihar Prohibition and Excise Act 2016. — Ramashankar

In Amethi, Rahul raises Hindutvawadi rhetoric

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Lucknow

STEPPING UP his harangue against 'Hindutva', former Congress president and MP from Wayanad, Rahul Gandhi on Saturday held 'Hindutvawadis' directly responsible for the problems plaguing the country at present.

While addressing a public rally during his six-kilometre log padayatra in his erstwhile parliamentary constituency and Gandhi family stronghold Amethi, the Congress leader said rising inflation, pain, and sadness in the country were due to the Hindutawadis. Rahul sought to differentiate Hindu from Hindutvawadi with which he meant BJP.

"Today, if there is mehangai (inflation), pain, sadness in our country, it is the handiwork of the Hindutvawadis," said Rahul. He added that the battle of the day was between satygrahis, the Hindus and Sattagrahis (power seekers), the Hindutvawadi. Rahul was accompanied by his sister and party general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra in Amethi.

Amid the mega foundation laying ceremony of Ganga Expressway in Shahjahanpur by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the Congress leader arrived at his lost bastion Amethi after nearly two and a half years for the first time since he lost his fort to BJP in 2019.

The brother-sister duo arrived in Lucknow on Saturday morning and reached Amethi by road. State Congress chief Ajay Kumar Lallu also joined them for the padayatra from Ramlila ground in Jagdishpur to Harimau.

UP+Yogi = UPyogi (beneficial): PM's new phrase in CM praise

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Lucknow

HEAPING praises on UP CM Yogi Adityanath and coining yet another phrase: "UP plus Yogi, bahut hai upyogi" (Uttar Pradesh plus Yogi have great utility), Prime Minister Narendra Modi took the focus of BJP poll campaign to western UP. Modi was in Shahjahanpur on Saturday to lay the foundation stone of the proposed Ganga Expressway Project.

The 594-km long Ganga Expressway aims to link Meerut in western UP with Prayagraj in eastern UP.

Lauding CM Yogi for "eliminating" mafias, Modi said that poor law and order had triggered an exodus of people from Uttar Pradesh earlier, but during the past 4.5 years bulldozers had razed unauthorised properties of mafias, causing pain to their 'patrons'.

The PM claimed that the Ganga Expressway would bring infinite opportunities for everyone including the youth and farmers. "This six-lane expressway, which will be built at the cost of over ₹36,200 crore," the prime minister said.

"As this expressway will provide high-speed connectivity from NCR through western UP to Prayagraj in UP east, I congratulate everyone in Meerut, Hapur, Bulandshahr, Amroha, Sambhal, Badaun, Shahjahanpur, Hardoi, Unnao, Raebareli, Pratapgarh, and Prayagraj, the dozen districts it will connect," he added.

'Trinamool brought outsiders to unleash muscle in civic polls'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kolkata

HOURS before the civic polls in Kolkata, mercury in Bengal politics soared high as the BJP alleged that the ruling Trinamool Congress (TMC) had brought hundreds of outsiders who would flex muscles during the electoral exercise.

The saffron party alleged that the TMC had kept "these musclemen" at secret places on the outskirts of the state capital.

The allegation assumes significance in the light of TMC national general secretary Abhishek Banerjee's recent warning to his party workers that if anyone tried to resist voters from exercising their franchise, he would be suspended.

A total of 1,139 out of 4,939 polling booths have been identified as sensitive. More than 25,000 police personnel will be deployed on the polling day. The state election commission clamped Section 144 of CrPC across the state capital from Saturday.

"We have specific information that the TMC has kept their goons ready at Dankuni in Hooghly who will intimidate our voters on Sunday. The goons have been brought from the ruling party's strongholds in Kolkata's adjoining districts," alleged BJP state president Sukanta Majumdar.

The Bengal's ruling party, however, rubbished the allegation. "Elections in the state are conducted amid the ambiance of the festival. The BJP leaders realised that the party would be washed away in this civic polls and this is why they are making this baseless allegation," said Firhad Hakim, incumbent mayor of Kolkata civic body.

CM Mamata Banerjee's nephew Abhishek recently warned the TMC workers of strict action if they found using "unfair means. If anyone shows dadagiri (highhandedness), he will be expelled from the party within 24 hours," he said while addressing a meeting in Kolkata recently.

Abhishek's caution drew flak from both the BJP and the CPI(M).

Huge cache of Maoist items seized near state border

A joint team of Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP), Rajnandgaon district police force and district reserve guards (DRG) during their search operation seized several items, including those of daily need materials and literature, found from the Maoist hideouts at the forested terrain of Pavidih-Parewa not far from the border area of Maharashtra. The operation was planned on a tip-off on the presence of the rebels in the region.The forces spotted Maoist hideout and recovered the items. Such hideouts are often used by the Maoists during their annual Tactical Counter Offensive Campaign (TCOC).

Baghel government talks of Chhattisgarh model

While the state Congress is in celebration mode on the occasion of three years of the Bhupesh Baghel government, the opposition BJP alleged that the state government miserably failed to meet the promises the ruling party declared in its manifesto for the people during its 36-month rule. Countering the charges, the CM asserted that the Chhattisgarh model is now seen as panacea of inclusive development and growth with the values of harmony, compassion and public participation. CM Baghel said, "People are realising their rights and opportunities in the new paradigm of development and justice." The BJP cited that out of the 36 promises, the Congress government is yet to begin work on at least 24. The Congress are organising a series of events across the state in celebration.

Producing green aluminium by cutting energy use

Setting new benchmarks in production of 'green aluminium', the Bharat Aluminium Company (Balco) has achieved notable success in reducing energy consumption as per the established international standards in its various manufacturing processes. In pursuit of ESG goals (environmental, social, corporate governance), the power consumption has reduced significantly during the last four years. The company affirmed that the adoption of smart technologies for heightened operational efficiencies had further bolstered energy optimisation, safety and productivity.

State to form green council in cabinet-level

With an aim towards regenerative, sustainable development intended to counter the detrimental impacts of climate change and conserve natural resources amid increase in the temperature, the Chhattisgarh will form 'State Green Council' with the chief minister as its chairman and two cabinet ministers as vice-chairman. There will be 12 members in the council including chief secretary and principal secretary. The chairman can also nominate seven members who are renowned personalities for the council. The 6-R policy which includes Rethink, Reuse, Recycle, Repair, Reduce, Refuge remains a focal point on waste management.

THREATS AND COUNTERTHREATS

May act if NATO expansion not stopped: Russian govt

Dy foreign minister warns of unspecified actions if demands ignored

MOSCOW

RUSSIA may take unspecified new measures to ensure its security if the US and its allies continue to take provocative action and ignore Moscow's demand for guarantees precluding NATO's expansion to Ukraine, a senior diplomat said on Saturday.

Deputy Foreign Minister Sergei Ryabkov accused Western allies of continuously pushing the envelope in relations with Russia, and warned that Moscow could also up the ante if the West doesn't treat its demands seriously.

Ryabkov's statement in an interview with the Interfax news agency came a day after Moscow submitted draft security documents demanding that NATO deny membership to Ukraine and other former Soviet countries and roll back the alliance's military deployments in Central and Eastern Europe bold ultimatums that are almost certain to be rejected by the US and its allies.

The publication of the demands contained in a proposed Russia-US security treaty and a security agreement between Moscow and NATO comes amid soaring tensions over a Russian troop buildup near Ukraine that has raised fears of an invasion. Russia has denied it has plans to attack its neighbour but wants legal guarantees that would rule out NATO expansion and deploying weapons there.

Russian President Vladimir Putin raised the demand for security guarantees in last week's video call with US President Joe Biden. During the conversation, Biden voiced concern about a buildup of Russian troops near Ukraine and warned him that Russia would face 'severe consequences' if Moscow attacked its neighbour.

"They have been extending the limits of what's possible regarding Russia," Ryabkov told Interfax in response to a question about the Western threat of tough new sanctions against Moscow. "But they fail to consider that we will take care of our security and act in a way similar to NATO's logic and also will start extending the limits of what is possible sooner or late," Ryabkov said.

"We will find all the necessary ways, means and solutions needed to ensure our security." In the meantime, Kremlin has continued amassing troops near the border with Ukraine.

CAPITOL BREACH

5-year-jail for man involved in Jan 6 riots

WASHINGTON

A Donald Trump supporter was sentenced to five years in prison for assaulting police officers during the attack on the US Capitol, the harshest punishment yet handed down in the investigation into the January 6 violence.

Robert Scott Palmer, 54, was seen in videos and photos wearing an American flag jacket decorated with pro-Trump patches and a hat reading "Florida for Trump" as he threw boards, a fire extinguisher and other objects at police outside the Capitol.

He had tried to enter the Capitol but was ultimately pushed back by pepper spray deployed by security officials.

After that he continued to throw things at officers, until he was hit by a rubber bullet.

Federal judge Tanya Chutkan rejected Palmer's arguments for leniency of a troubled childhood and a handwritten apology that said that he and others had been duped into attacking the Congress by the former president.

"I realize that we had been lied to," he wrote. Prosecutors pointed out that even after his October 4 guilty plea, Palmer continued to defend his actions, labelling police the aggressors on a fundraising website page he set up. AFP

SPACEX LAUNCHES 52 STARLINK SATELLITES

LOS ANGELES

A SpaceX rocket carried 52 Starlink internet satellites into orbit from California early Saturday.

The two-stage Falcon 9 rocket lifted off from coastal Vandenberg Space Force Base at 4.41 a.m. and arced over the Pacific.

The Falcon's first stage returned and landed on a SpaceX droneship in the ocean. It was the 11th launch and recovery of the stage.

The second stage continued into orbit and deployment of the satellites was confirmed, said launch commentator Youmei Zhou at SpaceX headquarters in Hawthorne, California.

Starlink is a satellite-based global internet system that SpaceX has been building for years to bring internet access to underserved areas of the world.

Saturday's mission was the 34th launch for Starlink, a constellation of nearly 2,000 satellites in low Earth orbit. SpaceX also was scheduled to launch a Turkish communications satellite from Florida at 10:58 p.m. EST Saturday. AP

Civil servant probing UK's 'partygate' scandal quits

London: UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson's first choice to investigate allegations that government officials held Christmas parties last year when Covid-19 rules barred such gatherings has stepped aside after he, too, was caught up in the "partygate" scandal. Simon Case, the head of the civil service, resigned from leading the investigation after the Guido Fawkes website reported Friday that Case's department held two parties in December 2020. Johnson tapped Sue Gray, a former senior government ethics adviser, to take over the inquiry.

Epstein's girlfriend refuses to testify in abuse trial

New York: A defiant Ghislaine Maxwell said on Friday that prosecutors had failed to prove her guilty of sex crimes, as her defense wound up in a trial that heard lurid claims she groomed minors for abuse by the late financier Jeffrey Epstein. Speaking for the first time since her sensational trial opened late last month, the 59-year-old British socialite addressed the New York court only to say she would not be testifying. "... the government has not proven its case beyond reasonable doubt so there is no need for me to testify," she said.

16 killed in massive explosion in Karachi

KARACHI

AT least 16 people were killed and 15 others injured in Pakistan's financial capital of Karachi on Saturday when a powerful blast, apparently triggered by a gas explosion in a covered sewage drain, ripped through the building of a private bank situated on it, police said.

Most of the casualties are reportedly customers and staff present inside the HBL bank which was built on top of a covered sewage drain in Karachi's Shershah area and collapsed following the explosion, the Express Tribune newspaper reported. Sindh Home Department Secretary Qazi Shahid Pervaiz confirmed that 16 people died in the explosion, while 15 others were injured, the Dawn newspaper reported.

The dead also included father of the ruling Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf's member Alamgir Khan.

SHO Zafar Ali Shah said the explosion took place in a drain located underneath a private bank, which had been served a notice to vacate the premises so the drain could be cleaned up.

Karachi Administrator Murtaza Wahab said that an investigation was under way to ascertain the cause of the blast.

An initial report of the Bomb Disposal Squad (BDS) said that the explosion was caused by a build-up of gas in the sewerage line.

A senior official was quoted in the report as saying that that counter-terrorism officials were also probing the explosion.

A police spokesperson clarified that there was no lead suggesting that the blast might be linked to terrorism, Geo TV reported.

Meanwhile, Sui Southern Gas Company (SSGC), said that there was "no SSGC gas pipeline" in the area, the report said. Negating the BDS' report, the SSGC said, "It is important to note that neither were flames visible nor was there smell of natural gas in the area — which is a clear indication that the blast is not linked to any of SSGC's pipelines."

Police said that the bank building was built on a narrow watercourse having sewerage and gas lines, making it difficult to ascertain whether the explosion was due to accumulation of gas in the sewerage line or something happened with the gas pipeline or explosive material was placed there. PTI

Politician shot dead in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa

A candidate of the Awami National Party (ANP), who was in the fray for the mayor city council elections scheduled to be held on Sunday in northwest Pakistan's Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province, has been gunned down by unknown assailants during an election campaign in his constituency, police said on Saturday. Umer Khitab Sherani was on an election campaign late Friday night in model town area of Dera Ismail Khan district, bordering South Waziristan tribal district, when he was attacked and killed, District Police Officer Najmul Husnain said. The elections were scheduled in 17 districts of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province (KPK) on December 19. However, the election commission, through a notification, terminated the elections for the mayor city council in the district

Prison set on fire as riots over Covid outbreak continue

Hundreds of prisoners set fire to a Thai jail during a two-day riot over the handling of a coronavirus cluster, with some inmates wounded as officers sought to restore order. Thai prisons are notoriously overcrowded and have struggled to curb the spread of the virus — more than 87,000 inmates have been infected with 185 recorded deaths, according to the Corrections Department. The prison has a population of more than 2,100 and roughly 300 have tested positive

Fitch downs rating over fears of debt default

International ratings agency Fitch downgraded cash-strapped Sri Lanka Saturday due to mounting fears of a sovereign default on its $26 billion foreign debt, but Colombo insisted it will meet its obligations. The downgrade by one notch from "CCC" to "CC" came a day after Sri Lanka reported a 1.5 per cent contraction in the third quarter of this year as a foreign exchange crisis wrecked its recovery from the coronavirus pandemic. Fitch said the downgrade reflected its view of an "increased probability of a default event in coming months" as Sri Lanka's foreign reserves slumped to $1.58 billion at the end of November. "We believe it will be difficult for the government to meet its external debt obligations in 2022 and 2023 in the absence of new external sources," the agency said

RAY OF HOPE

Taliban govt to resume issuing passports

KABUL

AFGHANISTAN'S Taliban authorities said Saturday they will resume issuing passports in Kabul, giving hope to citizens who feel threatened living under the Islamists' rule.

Thousands of Afghans have applied for new travel documents to escape a growing economic as well as a humanitarian crisis described by the United Nations as an "avalanche of hunger".

Authorities will start issuing the documents from Sunday at Kabul's passport office, Alam Gul Haqqani, the head of the passport department in the interior ministry, told reporters.

The Taliban stopped issuing passports shortly after their August 15 return to power, as tens of thousands of people scrambled to Kabul's only airport in a bid to catch any international flight that could evacuate them.

In October, authorities reopened the passport office in Kabul only to suspend work days later as a flood of applications caused the biometric equipment to break down.

"All the technical issues have now been resolved," Haqqani said, adding that initially travel documents will be given to those who had already applied before the office suspended work. New applications will be accepted from January 10.

Many Afghans who wanted to visit neighbouring Pakistan for medical treatment have also been blocked in the absence of valid passports.

"My mother has some health issues and we needed to go to Pakistan a long time ago, but we could not because the passport department was closed," said Jamshid.

Issuing passports — and allowing people to leave amid the growing humanitarian crisis — is seen as a test of the Taliban government's commitment to the international community. PTI

Maid abuse: Indian-origin couple jailed

SINGAPORE

AN Indian-origin couple was on Friday jailed in Singapore court for repeat offences relating to the hiring of a maid despite being blacklisted by the Ministry of Manpower (MOM) and obstructing justice, local media reported.

Syed Mohamed Peeran Syed Ameer Hamza, who circumvented the MOM blacklist by using his business associate's identity to hire an Indonesian domestic worker, was jailed 36 weeks or about eight months.

The 41-year-old Singaporean pleaded guilty midway through a trial to one charge each of obstructing justice and instigating his associate to give false information to secure a work pass.

His spouse Sabah Parveen, a 37-year-old permanent resident from India, was jailed for three days after similarly pleading guilty to obstruction of justice.

The couple's Indonesian maid, Aminah, reported that she was mistreated by the couple.

Another charge of failing to pay all of Aminah's salary was taken into consideration for sentencing, according to a report by TODAY newspaper.

District Judge Jennifer Marie granted a discharge not amounting to an acquittal for a charge that the couple each faced, failing to ensure Aminah was given adequate rest every day. This means that they can be prosecuted for these offences in the future, for example, if new evidence emerges.

The couple cried in the dock as their sentences were readout. Sabah began serving her sentence immediately, while Syed will do so on January 7 in order to take care of their two young children and settle some work matters, said the TODAY report.

In May 2015, Syed learned that he and his household had been placed on a blacklist for hiring foreign domestic workers until June 30, 2019.

He then wrote to MOM in a bid to lift the ban, but this was rejected.

In early 2018, he recruited Aminah. She was in Indonesia at the time.

Then, in July that year, he circumvented the ban by persuading his associate to apply for in-principle approval for Aminah to be employed as a domestic worker in Singapore. PTI

Philippine island 'flattened' by typhoon, 31 killed

MANILA

A powerful typhoon left at least 31 people dead, knocked down power and communications in entire provinces and wrought widespread destruction mostly in the central Philippines, officials said on Saturday. A governor said her island has been "leveled to the ground."

Typhoon Rai blew away Friday night into the South China Sea after rampaging through southern and central island provinces, where more than 3,00,000 people in its path were evacuated to safety in advance in a pre-emptive move officials say may have saved a lot of lives.

At its strongest, Rai packed sustained winds of 195 kilometers per hour and gusts of up to 270 kph, one of the most powerful in recent years to hit the disaster-prone Southeast Asian archipelago, which lies between the Pacific Ocean and the South China Sea. The typhoon slammed into the country's southeastern coast Thursday but the extent of casualties and destruction remained unclear two days after with entire provinces still without power and cellphone connection.

A woman grieves near the ruins of her destroyed home in Talisay on Saturday | AFP

The government's main disaster-response agency said at least 31 people were reported killed, many after being hit by falling trees, but it added it was validating most of the deaths. At least three were injured and one was missing.

Officials on Dinagat Islands, one of the first provinces to be lashed by the typhoon's ferocious winds, remained cut off Saturday due to downed power and communication lines. But its governor, Arlene Bag-ao, managed to post a statement on the province's website to say that the island of about 1,80,000 "has been leveled to the ground." She pleaded for food, water, temporary shelters, fuel, hygiene kits and medical supplies. She said only a few casualties have been reported in the capital so far because other towns remain isolated.

"We may have survived, but we cannot do the same in the coming days because of our limited capacities as an island province," Bag-ao said, adding some of Dinagat's hospitals could not open due to damage.

POPE IRKS CONSERVATIVES WITH NEW DECREE

Pope Francis doubled down Saturday on his efforts to quash the old Latin Mass, forbidding the celebration of some sacraments according to the ancient rite in his latest salvo against conservatives and traditionalists

MORE RESTRICTIONS ON LATIN MASS

The Vatican's liturgy office issued a document that clarified some questions that arose after Francis in July re-imposed restrictions on celebrating the old Latin Mass that Pope Benedict XVI had relaxed in 2007

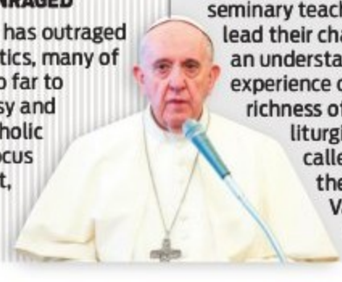
His July law required individual bishops to approve celebrations of the old Mass, and required newly ordained priests to receive explicit permission to celebrate it from their bishops. Saturday's decree makes clear the Vatican must explicitly authorise new priests to celebrate the rite

Benedict XVI had brought peace to the church. An end to the liturgical wars. The current pope has chosen to reignite them. There is no logical reason for that. Just an underlying desire for division and violence

Rorate Caeli, a traditionalist blog

CONSERVATIVES ENRAGED

Francis' crackdown has outraged his conservative critics, many of whom have gone so far to accuse him of heresy and watering down Catholic doctrine with his focus on the environment, social justice and migrants



MODERN VS TRADITIONAL

In 1969, Pope Paul VI made several significant changes to the traditional Latin mass, including simplifying the rituals. However, conservative Catholics have rejected the modern mass, calling it less spiritual than the traditional Latin mass. Pope Francis has made it harder for priests to celebrate the traditional mass

Further, in a clear bid to dissuade seminarians from even learning the old rite, the new instruction urges seminary teachers to lead their charges "to an understanding and experience of the richness of the liturgical reform called for by the Second Vatican Council"

THE FUTURE IS OF EVs AND ELON MUSK TRIGGERED IT

GURBIR SINGH

A couple of weeks ago, the first electric vehicle (EV) charger was set up in our Mumbai housing society in a discreet corner near the tennis courts. Most of the 350 resident families own multiple cars, some of them Porsches and Bentleys, and there's even a Rolls Royce. But not a single one owns an EV yet. A dipstick survey revealed 3-4 residents had placed orders, and others were on the way there. That little EV charging station in the corner was the sentinel of the future.

In deference to the revolutionary role one man has played in disrupting the polluting, fossil-fuel burning auto industry, and for transforming the electric car from a crackpot gadget to a mainstream product, the Time magazine has crowned him Time's 2021 Person of the Year.

Announcing the award to Elon Musk, co-founder of Tesla Motor Co, Edward Felsenthal, editor-in-chief and CEO of Time, said: "2021 was the year that electric vehicles finally came into the mainstream and that Tesla became a trillion-dollar company, one of only a handful in the world. It's a market that Musk almost single- handedly created, seeing long before others the demand for clean-energy transportation."

The recognition has come not by chance in a year when the world climate crisis has become an issue of mass unrest. The automotive industry, which once scoffed at the EV and resisted emission restrictions, is today scrambling to catch up with Tesla.

The Financial Times of London quickly followed Time magazine. Naming Musk 'Person of the Year' for his role in pushing the automobile industry to an all-electric future, the British daily wrote: "Even if Tesla was somehow to collapse next year, Musk would have transformed one of the world's most important industries in ways that could have profound implications for governments, investors - and for the climate."

Disruption and engineering

The reason everybody — Wall Street, car users, the government — loves Musk and Tesla is because they combine good engineering with a vision of the future. Nothing is sacrosanct, disruption of old legacy is the way forward; and growth is at lightning speed. Traditional automakers grow their top lines at less than 3% a year on average, Tesla's top line is growing at more than 60% a year.

SOUMYADIP SINHA

12% OF AUTO MARKET TO BE CORNERED BY EVs

Auto pundits predict by 2026 about 12% of the auto market will be cornered by EVs. But these are all shots in the dark. The real big will be when Elon Musk's cars begin selling. It is Tesla's launch in India which will create the aspiration to own an electric car, and in the whirlwind others in the league will benefit.

An analysis in 'Wards Auto' compared Toyota and Tesla in the way they handled product development. Says the auto analyst John McElroy: Toyota freezes the specifications of a vehicle a year before Job One. And then there are no design changes until two years after the start of production. Under the Toyota doctrine, design changes introduce variability, and variability leads to quality problems. Not Tesla. It doesn't freeze specs. Just the opposite. It makes design changes on the fly. And it mainly makes those changes — this is a key point — to take cost out of its cars.

Tesla's electronic architecture is a prime example. The architecture in the Model X worked just fine, but two years after it came out the Model 3 debuted with an entirely new architecture. Other automakers would never do this. Once they're done designing a new architecture, they won't touch it again for a decade.

Everybody's in the race

For years, Tesla ran as a loss-making company; and almost went bust on several occasions with no money to pay its employees. But Elon Musk was sure the future was his. It was only in 2020 that the company reported its first full-year profit, a feat 18 years in the making, since it was founded in 2003. For the year gripped by pandemic, its net profit was $721 million, in contrast to a loss of $862 million in 2019.

Musk has set the pace. By 2030, every fifth car will be an electric vehicle. The old opponents of the EV are today the biggest investors. Volkswagen has announced an investment of $83 billion in digital and EVs over a 5 year horizon. By 2030, EVs will account for 50% of its sales in the US, 70% in Europe and 50% in China. Mercedes Benz will pump in $46 billion to develop EVs over the next decade, and 50% of its sales worldwide will be EVs by 2025. Ford Motor Co will invest $30 billion in the next 5 years, and EVs will account for 40% of all sales by 2030.

In India, EVs have been slow to take off. Poor quality and over-priced models have not been able to impress the consumer, and the infrastructure of charging stations and maintenance has crawled over the last decade.

Auto pundits predict by 2026 about 12% of the auto market will be cornered by EVs. But these are all shots in the dark. The real big will be when Elon Musk's cars begin selling. It is Tesla's launch in India which will create the aspiration to own an electric car, and in the whirlwind others in the league will benefit.

Telcos tariff hike to spur inflation

Up to 25% hike in pre-paid tariffs will hurt users, slow down digital inclusion, say experts

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

LAST month, all the major Indian telcos — Bharti Airtel, Reliance Jio and Vodafone Idea — hiked their prepaid tariffs by 20% to 25%, raising fear of higher prices and inflation. Among them Airtel was the first one to hike, followed by the other two telecom giants, Vodafone Idea and Reliance Jio. While announcing the hikes, these telecom operators cited that the new plans would improve their average revenue per users (ARPU) and help them deal with the financial stress faced by the industry.

Their decision was immediately hailed by the industry experts, calling it a much-needed step to aid the ailing sector. The industry leaders said the decision will enable the telecom industry to invest in rolling out 5G mobile services.

"Telecom is a capital-intensive sector, because it requires continuous technological upgradation. The key players had already invested ₹5 lakh crore between fiscals 2017 and 2021 to roll out 4G services," said rating agency CRISIL.

However, this was a view from industry's perspective but what about the consumers? Won't they suffer from this price hike at the time of a pandemic? The industry claims that it has hiked only 20-25 % but it is bound to impact the people with low income.

Telecom services: A necessity

As per the latest data, India has 1.18 billion mobile connections, 700 million internet users, and 600 million smartphones. The smartphone users are increasing by 25 million per quarter. Among them — Reliance Jio, Vodafone Idea and Airtel have captured 85% of the telecom market.

According to a PwC report, the pandemic has driven demand for internet access. "Be it for work, education or entertainment, people from all walks of life are now highly dependent on the internet. Therefore, the price rise by these private telecoms, within a week, is not a good sign as it paves the way for future hikes," says the report, adding that the move will also increase inflation.

"The latest Situation Assessment Survey (SAS) published by the National Statistical Office (NSO) on September 10, 2021, reveals that an Indian farmer earned ₹27 per day on average from cultivation in 2018-19. Hitting them with 25% hike will lead to their digital exclusion, instead of inclusion aimed by the government," said Telecom Watchdog, an NGO.

The NGO also said during Covid, people are highly dependent on the mobile phone for services such as health, education and finance. But now, with such a steep hike, they will be left with no option but to give up some of these services.

Higher prices for telecom services would add to the inflationary pressure the country is facing. In a report titled "India: Low inflation coming to an end", Nomura's Managing Director and Chief economist, India and Asia (ex-Japan), Sonal Varma, points out higher telecom tariffs for building inflationary pressure. "Telecom firms have raised their prepaid tariffs (by ~20%) to strengthen their balance sheets and there is a risk of higher broadband charges.

Consumer companies have either announced a price hike (FMCG) or are looking to hike prices (autos) from January to rebuild their margins... the ongoing reopening will continue to add to services price inflation, and elevated inflation expectations remain a risk for the medium-term outlook," she says.

Necessary Evil?

While hiking the prepaid tariff, the mobile companies said their purpose is to improve their Average Revenue Per Users. Bharti Airtel said this level of ARPU will enable the substantial investments required in networks and spectrum. Vodafone Idea said this will start the process of ARPU improvement and help address the financial stress faced by the industry.

In a recently concluded India Mobile Congress, Reliance Chairman Mukesh Ambani advocated migration of people from 2G to 4G to 5G at the earliest; keeping millions of Indians confined to 2G is to deprive them of the benefits of the digital revolution. Overall, one can notice all these telecom giants justified their tariff revision in some way or other.

"Tariff hike plea has become a trend to hide their own failures. So far, since the launch of service by Jio in September 2016, there have been three tariff hikes. As a result, the mobile ARPU per month has gone up from the lowest level of ₹67.38 (Jul-Sep 2018) to ₹104.66 (Apr-Jun 2021). It was ₹126.05 in Apr-Jun 2016. The telcos are aiming ARPU to be ₹200, much higher than what it was before the entry of Reliance Jio in September 2016. All the private telcos have cartelised and are enjoying high tariffs at the cost of consumers," the NGO Telecom Watchdog.

Telcos justified their hike claiming that they have to spend a massive sum of money to get approvals, build infrastructure and expand networks for millions of people living in India. For all these, they require a lot of funds. However, a report by ICICI Securities suggests the telecom operators should have taken a steeper hike in 4G data plans while maintaining the affordability of 2G mobile services. The significant hike in base 2G plans could lead to some slippage of subscribers. "Bharti and VIL have taken their highest hikes in the base 2G pack, which would make telecom service less affordable (on the other hand, the heavily discounted category of unlimited 4G data plans has seen a relatively lower price increase)," reads the report of ICICI Securities.

Only time will tell how the move to hike tariffs impacts the telecom companies in the long run, but it certainly would come at the cost of digital inclusion of the government. We have sent the questions to these companies but they have remained unanswered.

ITC picks 8.70% stake in Mother Sparsh

New Delhi: Diversified firm ITC Ltd on Saturday said it has bought 8.70% equity stake in Mother Sparsh Baby Care, a D2C Ayurvedic and natural personal care brand. This acquisition is pursuant to ITC's Nov 26 announcement, when it had said to acquire a 16% stake in Mother Sparsh through a share subscription deal.

AIG Hospitals denies reports of its promoters selling majority stake

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU

HYDERABAD-based Asian Institute of Gastroenterology (AIG) Hospitals has denied media reports that its promoters are looking to sell controlling stake in the hospital chain.

In a statement issued on Friday, Chairman of the hospital Dr D Nageshwar Reddy said: "It has come to notice that in some sections of the media, reports are being circulated about the majority stake sale equity by the promoters of AIG Hospital. On behalf of the promoters and senior management, I wish to clarify that there is no truth in such reports and that the promoters of AIG Hospitals have no intention of diluting their stakes."

Dr Reddy said that the promoters are committed to holding majority stake and continue the journey of high-quality and affordable healthcare.

According to the media reports, Chairman Dr Reddy and Quadria Capital are together planning to sell 60-70% stake in the hospital chain, which is one of the best-known gastroenterology hospitals in India. Quadria Capital holds 30% stake in the hospital and the rest is held by the promoters. As per reports, prospective buyers have valued the hospital chain at around ₹5,000 crore.

Earlier, Samara Capital had 14% stake in the hospital chain, which it sold out to Quadria Capital in 2019 taking the latter's total stake to 30%.

Established in 1986 under the aegis of Asian Institute of Gastroenterology, AIG Hospitals run two hospitals in Hyderabad - a 800-bed hospital at Gachibowli and another 300-bed hospital in Somajiguda.

It is a state-of-the-art super specialty hospital and is known as a global leader in undertaking transplant surgeries such as liver, kidney, heart, pancreas and islet cell. Its tertiary care services include gastroenterology, organ transplantation, oncology, cardiology, nephrology, urology, obesity and metabolic therapy, pulmonology, liver sciences and hepatology.

IOA set for AGM to amend constitution, proposed EC meet sore point

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

"TWO factions, largely represented by the (IOA) President and the General Secretary, are at odds with each other." – Mentioned in Delhi High Court's order on Friday. It's that bad. There's acrimony between opposing members and mudslinging. The Annual General Meeting on Sunday might not bring the two warring factions together. If the Executive Council meeting is conducted as per plan it can be a volatile affair. That the court has asked for police protection and the entire meeting would be videographed showed what could be anticipated at the meeting.

The special bench of Justices Manmohan and Najmi Waziri on Friday directed the IOA to go ahead with the AGM and amend the constitution as per the provisions of the Sports Code. The petitioner, sports lawyer Rahul Mehra, had been pointing out that the IOA constitution is in violation with the sports code and that the constitution must be aligned with the Sports Code, International Olympic Committee Charter and the law of the land. The court has directed the IOA to amend the constitution: "They (the two factions) need to put aside their differences in the larger national interest, if the IOA wishes to facilitate participation of Indian sportspersons at sporting events organised by or under the International Olympic Committee (IOC). As a first step in this regard, it would be prudent that the IOA constitution be brought in consonance with the NSC and be modelled on the IOC Charter and law of the land..." Both the parties told the court that they are not averse to amending the constitution. The court has asked them to submit the proceedings of the AGM on December 23, the next hearing.

Mehra said the IOA should

be discussing only the amendment of the constitution during the AGM and nothing else. "The IOA must consider all the 12-13 points that I have listed in my application to court that are in violation of the sports code," he said.

Sunday, however, may not be as smooth. Secretary general Rajeev Mehta camp is expected to oppose the Executive Council meeting before the AGM. They are calling it illegal that could be a contempt of court too. The meeting was called last week and IOA president Narinder Batra camp feels they are well within their rights to hold it because the court did not object to it. Interestingly, there was a request in Court to stall the EC meeting too. The Mehta camp feels it could be a contempt of court if the meeting takes place as the court has asked IOA to conduct the AGM under the supervision of Rajiv Sahai Endlaw, former judge of Delhi High Court. The administrator would also finalise the list of members who can attend the meeting and who cannot. Former sports secretary Injeti Srinivas, who had a big hand in giving shape to the 2011 sports code, will be assisting Endlaw.

There are two lists in circulation, one signed by both the president and the secretary, while the other by the secretary. There are few names in the secretary's list that seem objectionable to the Batra faction. Among them are two associate members, Indian Golf Union and the other Equestrian Federation of India, who do not have the voting rights as decided by the General body.

Another issue that would seem to bother IOA members are the provisions in Mehra's application under para 8. However, both parties agreed on certain points — the modification/removal of restrictive clause, role of State units in the IOA, 25 per cent representation of sports persons in ECs, to name a few. It needs to be seen if the IOA would consider pruning the size of EC or adhere to age limit of 70 years for its EC members as well. Mehra is of the opinion that the IOA must consider and amend according to the provisions mentioned in his application. With all parties on the same page, the AGM to amend the constitution is expected to be smooth.

Srikanth first male shuttler from India to reach Worlds final

Kidambi Srikanth beat Lakshya Sen 17-21, 21-14, 21-17 in an enthralling semifinal on Saturday | AFP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

WHEN Kidambi Srikanth and Lakshya Sen impressed in the quarterfinals of the ongoing World Championships to set up a semifinal date with each other, one thing was guaranteed. One of them was destined to go where no Indian male shuttler has reached in the history of the competition — the final.

The question was who? Srikanth had all the experience but Lakshya has shown he's the man for the big stage at the junior level and has been touted to be the next big star. On Saturday, the day that would provide answers, both were engaged in an enthralling contest that lasted over an hour and one that was decided by margins. But in the end, it was Srikanth who prevailed 17-21, 21-14, 21-17.

It was a see-saw fight at the onset with both of them stealing points from each other. But it was Lakshya, with his deft touch and placements, who gained some momentum to get some breathing space. However, Srikanth used his experience to close the gap with some of his powerful jump smashes, which was precise in placement.

As the score was 16-16, Srikanth had the momentum. But it was Lakshya who finished off on a strong note with some neat play in front of the net. Srikanth seemed helplesss as his 20-year-old opponent pocketed the first game 20-17.

Lakshya also produced some venomous jump smashes in the second game to which Srikanth was powerless. He also displayed his nimble footwork and speed inside the court during rallies, earning him vital points. As Lakshya continued to have the upperhand at the early stages, Srikanth seemed to have run out of ideas. He tried to match Lakshya at the net, but the latter was too clever. Despite being frustrated, he never let Lakshya build a lead and found some momentum to overtake his opponent and go into the break (11 points) with a small lead. Buoyed by his play, Srikanth seemed to have found his rhythm and he finished off on a strong note, winning the second game 21-14 and taking the contest to the decider.

The third game was neck-and-neck as both players continued to test each other to the limits. The duo was involved in long rallies too in the process. But Srikanth sealed the contest as Lakshya seemed to have run out of steam.

RESULTS (SEMIFINALS): MEN'S SINGLES: K Srikanth (INDx12) bt L Sen (IND) 17-21, 21-14, 21-17; WOMEN'S SINGLES : Tai Tzu Ying (TPEx1) bt He Bing Jiao (CHNx8) 21-17, 13-21, 21-14; A Yamaguchi (JPNx2) bt Z Yi Man (CHN) 21-19, 21-19.

Chennaiyin return to winning ways

ENS @ KOCHI

CHENNAIYIN FC posted a 2-1 victory over Odisha FC in the ISL at the Tilak Maidan Stadium in Vasco on Saturday. Goals from Germanpreet Singh (23') and Mirlan Murzaev (63') helped Bozidar Bandovic's men get back to winning ways after their defeat against Mumbai City FC in their last match. Odisha, on the other hand, remain fifth in the table and Javi Hernandez's injury-time pile-driver offered scant consolation.

Rahul appointed vice-captain for SA Tests

OPENER KL Rahul has been named as the Indian team's vice captain for the upcoming three-Test series against South Africa, starting December 26, BCCI secretary Jay Shah said on Saturday. Earlier, Rohit Sharma was made deputy to Virat Kohli for the series but the Mumbai batter was ruled out due to injury. Rahul has played 40 Tests so far and has scored 2321 runs.

Stars return as K'taka gear up for knockouts

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

IN the group stages of the Vijay Hazare Trophy, Karnataka were missing some of their key players due to India and India A commitments. Despite two losses, they qualified for the knockout stages. However, the return of Devdutt Padikkal, Prasidh Krishna and Krishnappa Gowtham into the squad for the knockout stages is a welcome sign. The strengthened Karnataka unit will face Rajasthan in the pre quarterfinals at KL Saini Ground in Jaipur on Sunday.

The trio not only brings in experience, but adds quality in both the batting and bowling department. Padikkal will open with Ravikumar Samarth, who has been in good form, scoring 243 runs so far. Captain Manish Pandey has been in fine touch too, with 218 runs under his belt. The inclusion of Padikkal will strengthen their batting at the top and more importantly, the southpaw has it in him to score runs at a fair clip against the new ball too.

With the pitches in Thiruvananthapuram having proved to be tough to score quick runs, Karnataka will expect Samarth and Padikkal to help the team get off to some solid starts provided the pitch assists them in Jaipur.

If they can get their last season form, where the former hit three tons and latter four, Pandey and Co will be in a strong position. However, they will need the middle order comprising Karun Nair and Srinivas Samarth to deliver with the bat too.

"Me and him (Padikkal) together, we had a great run last year. Between us, we got seven hundreds. It did go well, and hopefully it does go well in the knockout stages here too," said Samarth. "The wickets there (in Thiruvananthapuram) were completely different. You cannot compare the wickets there to what it might be here. We will get to know how the wicket plays tomorrow only. We have not seen the wicket here also, and we will have a better clarity as to how we will go about things in the next game."

Also, the team management will take a sigh of relief with the inclusion of Prasidh else the pace unit lacked experience. Also, with Gowtham, he brings in his wicket-taking ability with his off-spin and is also more than handy with the bat in the lower order. But, Karnataka cannot afford to take Rajasthan lightly as they topped Elite Group E after victories over teams like Punjab in the knockout stages. Rajasthan will depend on their inform players, including pacer Aniket Choudhary and batter Abhijeet Tomar to shine against Pandey's men.

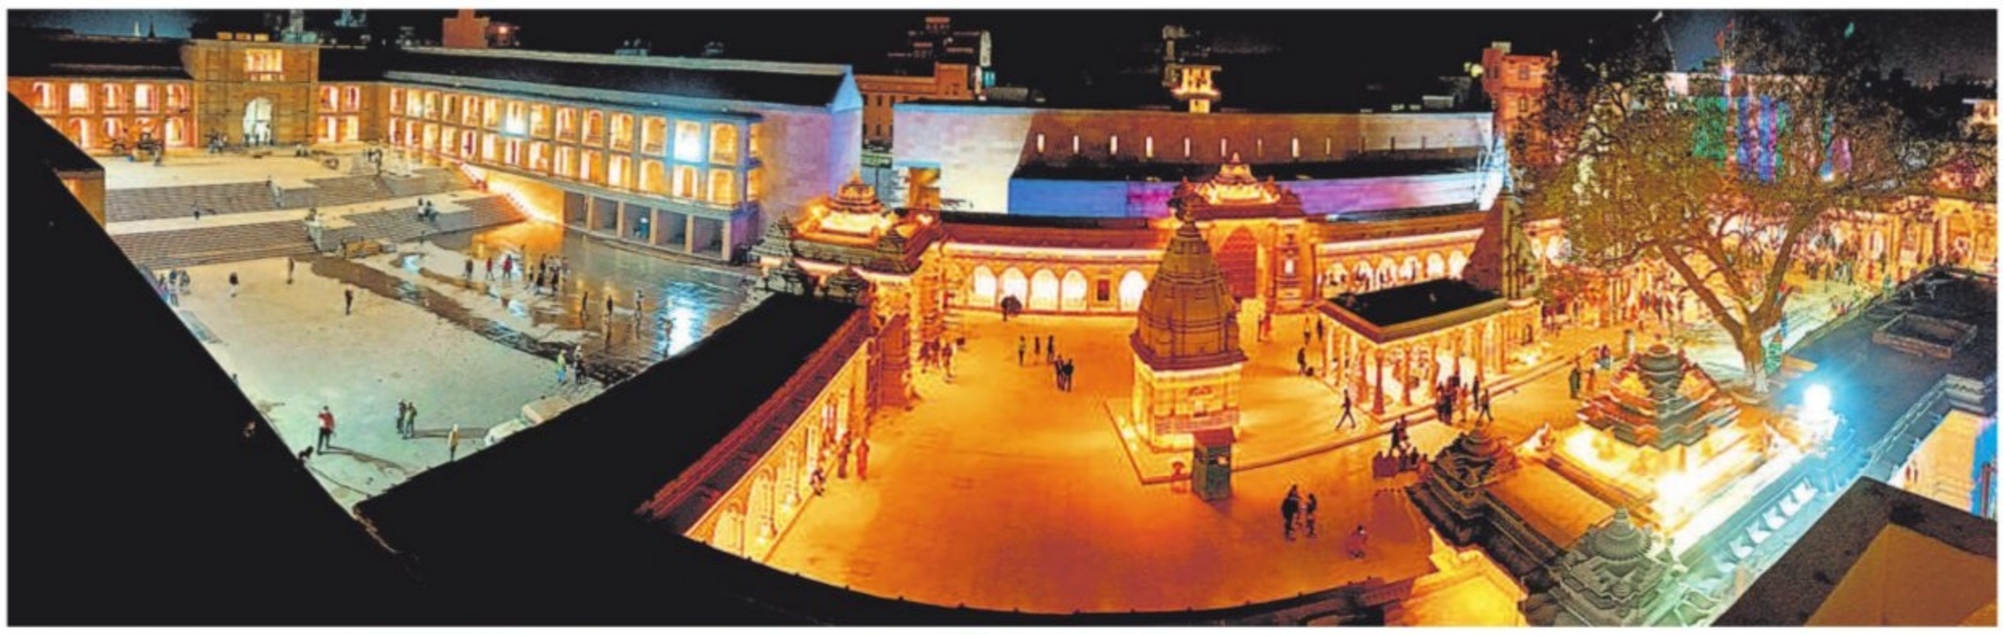
Pilgrims find a new route to Kashi Dham

The government of Uttar Pradesh is looking at the Kashi Vishwanath Temple as a harbinger of change in Varanasi not only as a pilgrim hub but also as a driver of the tourism economy

For long, the Kashi Vishwanath Dham has been sitting in a dense maze of alleys, crowded bazaars and snaking lanes full of devotees waiting for their turn to offer prayers. So in 2017, Prime Minister Narendra Modi resolved to rescue the seat of Lord Mahadev, clean up the area around the Kashi Vishwanath temple, beautify it, improve access, expand its premises and renovate its surroundings. The very next day, the Uttar Pradesh Government sanctioned a budget of Rs 650 crore to execute his vision and create a temple corridor that was more in sync with contemporary needs and development. The idea was not to take away from its sacredness and divinity but to enhance it.
The Kashi Vishwanath corridor, spread over a sprawling area of 55,000 square metres, connects the Kashi Vishwanath Temple with the Ganga. Now, one can reach the temple premises within minutes from the Ganga without going around in the lanes. The foundation stone of the corridor was laid in March 2019. The grand courtyard of Baba Vishwanath is now ready to receive devotees.



- The temple will have waiting rooms for pilgrims to rest. An inquiry centre will apprise tourists about the city and other places of attraction.
- A museum and auditorium depicting Varanasi's ancient history and culture will be set up.
- A 50 ft corridor will directly connect the Manikarnika and Lalita Ghats to the Kashi Vishwanath Jyotirlinga temple.
- Devotees will find special yagyashalas for religious functions like havan.
- A total of 24 buildings to come up as part of the project.
- A food street to serve scrumptious Banarasi and Awadhi dishes to tourists.
- Special lodging for priests, volunteers and pilgrims.
- An auditorium for gatherings, meetings and temple functions.
- Ganga view gallery so that tourists can get a clear view of the holy river.
- 40 temples that reappeared during excavation and construction restored to their glory.
- Project to add to ancient haritage of Varanasi.

PRIME MINISTER Narendra Modi's dream project of reviving the ancient glory of the Kashi Vishwanath Dham is now a reality and the revamped temple corridor has been opened to people. The restructuring of the premises has taken place several hundred years after the temple was restored by Maratha queen Ahilyabai Holkar in 1777.

The process of creating a new, expansive and open enclosure around the main temple, all of 55,000 square metres, was complicated as planners had to clear a mesh of narrow lanes and roads, clear shops and move out shops to better and dedicated spaces.

Lit-up temple facades

The work on Kashi Vishwanath Dham is going on in phases. The first phase has been completed with 26 new buildings housing facilities and the lighting of external facades of the temple complex. The façade lights have been installed according to the theme of "Amber to Nilambar." In other words, the entire Dham site will be bathed in white, purple, yellow and sky-blue lights at night, adding another attraction for both tourists and pilgrims.

In the next phase of the corridor, four new buildings, including the gate near Manikarninka and Jalasen ghats, staircase and wrap building, have been added. This will be completed soon too.

27 deities, 58 temples, 125 idols preserved

During reconstruction of the Dham complex and clearance of encroachments, teams found more temples which had been lost or built over amid the cluster of houses around them. Many of these temples have been described in the Kashi Khand from Skand Puran. As many as 27 deities and 58 such temples have been restored. More than 125 rare sculptures have been recovered. All these deities and temples will now be housed in the new Kashi Vishwanath Dham complex and arranged as they are meant to.

With the inauguration of the Dham, many events will take place in Kashi for a month. These will draw a huge number of tourists and almost all hotels have been booked in the city.

Clean and Green Corridor

With a paved 320 m long and 20 m wide walkway, the Kashi Vishwanath Corridor will connect the two things Varanasi is well known for ---- the famous Kashi Vishwanath temple and the river Ganga. The Kashi Vishwanath Special Area Development Board (KVSADB) was entrusted with the task of planning and executing the project. Designed by Bimal Patel, the same architect who is in charge of the Central Vista redevelopment project in New Delhi, the corridor was taken forward on a war footing, right from getting the properties vacated to compensating the owners.

The corridor has decongested the temple complex which was earlier surrounded by buildings on three sides. "The project includes the construction of the temple chowk, Varanasi city gallery, museum, multipurpose auditoriums, halls, devotee facilitation centre, public convenience, salvation home, Godowlia Gate, Bhogshala, shelter for priests and sevadars, spiritual book kiosks and others," said Patel. About 70 per cent of the 5.50 lakh sq ft area of the project have been kept for green cover.

A statue of the Maratha queen, Maharani Ahilyabai Holkar, who got the Kashi Vishwanath temple reconstructed in 1777, will be installed in the complex. Besides, it will also have statues of Aadi Shankaracharya, Bharat Mata and Lord Kartikeya. Idols of Goddess Parvati, Goddess Annapurna, Lord Ganesh, Lord Hanuman and Lord Satyanarayan will also be re-installed in the temple premises.

PM opens doors of Kashi Vishwanath Dham to people

AMID THE traditional sound of chants and the tech-aided restoration of an ancent shrine to its civilisational glory, Prime Minister Narendra Modi inaugurated the Kashi Vishwanath Dham at a solemn but memorable ceremony. The Chief Minister as well as Deputy Chief Ministers of Uttar Pradesh and more than 3,000 religious leaders and saints from across the country were present on the occasion, which was broadcast live through the city and streamed nationwide across media and communication channels. The event was themed around the motto, "Divya Kashi, Bhavya Kashi."

Ancient grandeur reinstated

The ancient grandeur of the Kashi Vishwanath temple has been restored courtesy the new corridor, which has enabled direct access to the temple from the ghats. The temple complex has been extensively developed with four huge and grand entrances. In ancient times, this area existed under the name of Anand Van. The same Anand Van, as mentioned in the texts, will be re-established in an expanse of 20,000 sq m.

The State Government had approved a budget of Rs 650 crore for restructuring and beautifying the temple complex on the lines of the Somnath temple in Gujarat.

All necessary facilities have been or are being developed for visitors to have a sublime and intimate experience of divinity. Instead of being rushed out by the priests, devotees will now be able to spend their time in the temple complex after the darshan.

Ancient idols found in the temple premises are being re-installed in shrines that are being built within the premises. The importance and history of all the temples and their statues will be inscribed on stone tablets.

The reconstruction and beautification of the temple is considered significant as it is being undertaken after several hundred years. It is believed to have been built as Vishveshwar temple by Hari Chandra in the 11th century. It was destroyed several times by invaders in the past. In 1777, Rani Ahilyabai Holkar initiated restoration of the temple on a land adjacent to the old temple premises. Later, in the year 1836, Maharaja Ranjit Singh of Punjab donated gold for the dome of the temple. It is one of the 12 Jyotirlingas across the country.

A boost to religious tourism

The government of Uttar Pradesh is looking at the Kashi Vishwanath Temple corridor as a harbinger of change in Varanasi not only as a pilgrim hub but also as a driver of the tourism economy. Having eased the access to Lord Mahadev, the temple corridor is expected to accommodate a higher footfall. Every year, more than seven million devotees and tourists visit the temple premises. During the month of Shrawan, around 2.5-3 lakh visitors throng the temple, while on Mahashivratri, the number climbs to 4 lakh devotees a day.
